Village gets large park, cash from new developer

Antioch officials welcomed with open arms the park land proposal for the Tiffany Farms housing development.

United Homes of Illinois, developer of the 414-unit single-family housing site, offered a park donation of 24.5 acres, plus an additional $41,400 in cash to help develop the park.

"They're donating more land than is required and more than the park board was expecting," noted Trustee Dorothy Larson.

When the village board approved the controversial development last month, the village was expecting at least an 8-acre park donation with little likelihood of getting a cash donation on top of the land.

According to village park donation ordinances, United Homes was only required to donate 7.3 acres with no cash donation.

The actual 24.5-acre park donation is situated on the southeastern edge of the property. Surrounding retention ponds and green spaces will provide a 36-acre overall area of open space in the 169-acre development.

Mayor Marilyn Shineflug noted, however, that the 24.5-acre park donation includes 13.7 acres of buildable land, while the remaining 10.8 acres is part of See TIFFANY page A10

Torch visit sparks Olympic spirit

Justin Mentell may be skating a little faster when he reports to a skating training center for a session this summer.

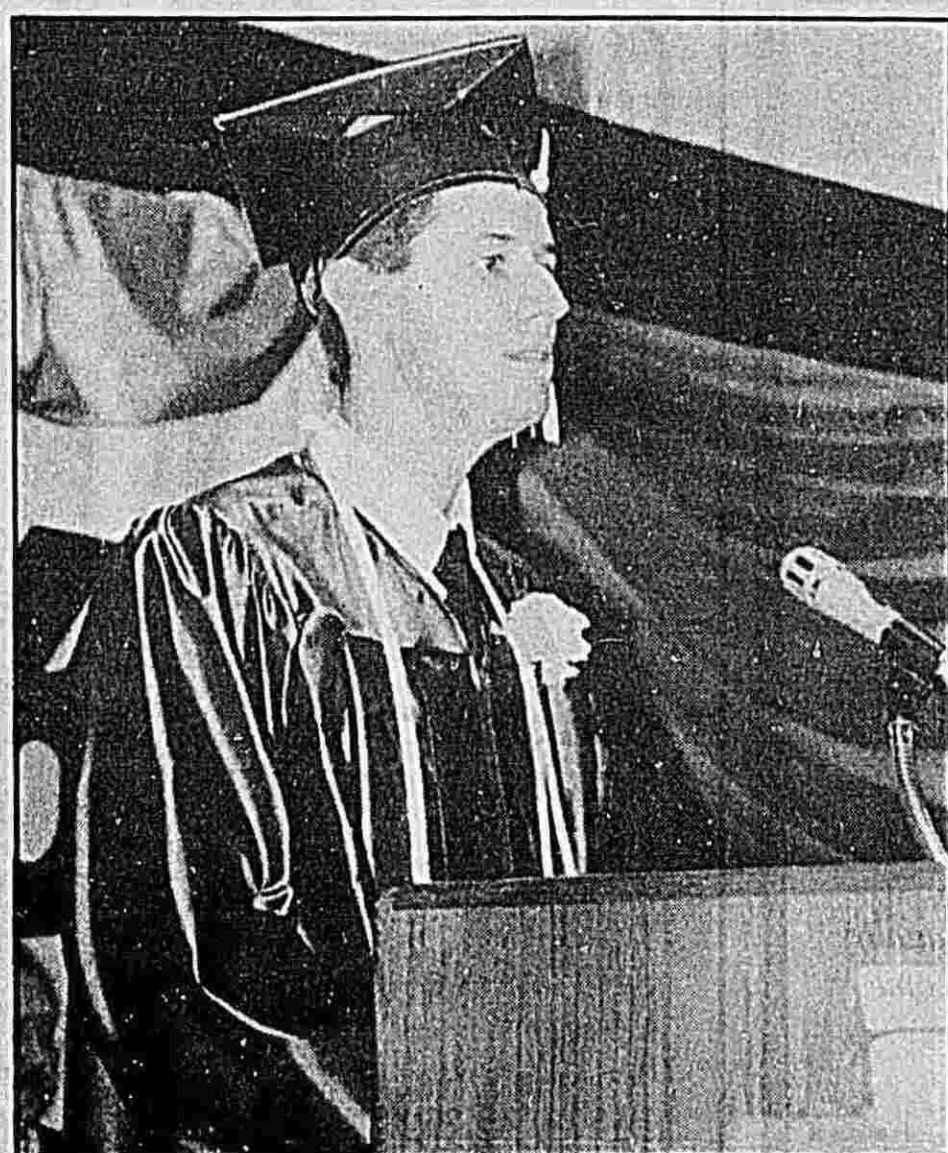

Mentell, age 13 of Waukegan, has a dream. He saw part of that dream when the Olympic torch, hoisted on a Union Pacific train, pulled into the Waukegan commuter train station just before 9 a.m. Monday.

"It was terrific. It gets you into the spirit of the Olympics. My son has always wanted to go to the Olympics in the year 2002," Alicia Mentell said.

Hockney, Mullendore build foundation at ACHS

KEVIN HANRAHAN

A year ago, Antioch Community High School seemed to be a school lying stagnant, not knowing exactly where it wanted to go.

A year later, a new sense of pride seems to be emanating from both the halls of Antioch High and from the three communities the high school serves.

The new image the school is trying to build could largely be attributed to the fresh approach of the new administration led by Dr. Dennis Hockney, superintendent, and Dr. Susan Mullendore, principal — both of whom concluded their first academic year at ACHS.

Educational consortium seeks input

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

An informational meeting of the newly established Consortium for Educational Change of Antioch Community High School will be held June 13 at 7 p.m.

The consortium is a joint committee made of members of the board of education, teachers, administrators and representatives from the education association to begin planning for the educational needs of the future for the high school.

"It's a collaborative effort we're putting together to look at the long-range plan of change in education," said Superintendent Dennis Hockney.

The consortium is inviting community leaders and business people from the Antioch, Lindenhurst and Lake Villa communities to attend the informational meeting.

Hockney said the consortium seeks input from the community as it plans for the future high school education of the three communities ACHS serves.

"Schools are not an island onto themselves. We're a part of the community," Hockney noted. He is also encouraging the mayors of the villages and parent groups of the high school to attend the informational meeting.

He said the consortium seeks the input of community leaders because he believes the consortium may develop into a steering committee for educational change.

"We are looking for as much input as possible to direct the school as it tries to improve itself," Hockney said.

The consortium will meet in the Commons of the school.

'Wisdom Hall' to expand into bigger location

Antioch Community High School's famous Wisdom Hall will become bigger and better next year.

Introduced last year as a place for students to catch up on reading and writing skills, Wisdom Hall quickly gained popularity among students.

It grew from a place to help a handful of students to a regular stop for literally hundreds of students. Added technology and computer software allowed Wisdom Hall to become a favorite stop for many students.

Wisdom Hall was located in a single classroom and coordinated by English teacher Ann Kakacek.

According to Superintendent Dennis Hockney, the famous Wisdom Hall will be even grander next year.

The board of education agreed to move Wisdom Hall from a cramped classroom to the newly created computer lab.

The new and expanded Wisdom Hall will be divided into three sections including a quiet study hall area, a technology area, and an area for large group interaction.

"It will be a nice addition that responds to students from both ends of the spectrum," Hockney said. "It will help those who need assistance as well as those who are extending themselves."—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Police BEAT

Persons charged with a crime are innocent until proven guilty in a court of law.

ANTIOCH

Village prohibits fireworks

Antioch police responded to a complaint about fireworks being launched June 2 at the Oakridge Court townhomes. Upon arrival, police walked through the complex and observed three small children age 9 to 12 lighting bottle rockets while an older adult stood by. Police cited Todd Baker, 41, of Antioch, for violating the village's fireworks ordinance which prohibits fireworks.

Teen staggers on and off road

During the early morning hours June 1, police observed Scheskie Williams, 18, of Antioch walking in the gravel of the shoulder on Route 83 near Park Terrace. Police reported that he was staggering on and off roadway. Police detected a strong odor of alcohol when they approached the subject. Williams told police he walking home after having three or four beers earlier in the evening. He said he was extremely tired. He registered a .03 on a breath test. He was charged with illegal consumption of alcohol by a minor. Williams was released on recognizance bond and will appear in Grayslake court July 10.

Motorist violates crosswalk

Police arrested Jesse Meyer, 24, of Antioch, after police observed him travel through a crosswalk at Lake Street and Victoria Street when pedestrians were present. Meyer told police his license was suspended and he had no insurance. Police charged him with driving while suspended, no insurance and disobeying a crosswalk. He will appear in Grayslake court July 10.

Bad bumper leads to arrest

While on routine patrol May 26, police observed a Chevy pickup on Route 83 near Orchard with its bumper pushed up, covering the license plate. The driver was James Wilton, 23, of Antioch. After further investigation, police learned his license was suspended. Wilton was charged with improper display of registration and driving while suspended. He was released on personal recognizance bond and will appear in Grayslake court June 26.

Police stop impaired driver

On May 25, police arrested Randy Schwamlien, 27, of Lake Villa, for numerous violations including driving under the influence, possession of cannabis, and illegal transportation of open alcohol. Police first observed him traveling south on Route 59 near Bowles Road. Police said he had trouble maintaining his balance. A breath test registered a .23 blood-alcohol level. Schwamlien was released after he posted $100 cash bond and his driver's license. He will appear in Waukegan court June 18.

Woman found with pot

While investigating a traffic accident May 30, police later found Jana Traves, 25, of Antioch, in possession of cannabis. When investigating the traffic accident, police asked to enter her residence to discuss the incident. Police said Traves appeared highly intoxicated with a strong odor of burnt cannabis coming from inside the residence. Police also noticed a plastic baggy containing a green leafy substance and a smoking pipe on the living room coffee table. Traves admitted that both items were hers. She was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis. She was released on personal recognizance and will appear in Grayslake court June 26.

Loud muffler yields arrests

A loud exhaust system led Antioch police to a carload full of open beer and a suspect wanted on a Lake County Sheriff's Office burglary charge.

While on routine patrol June 3, police observed a vehicle without an exhaust system traveling on Route 83 near Route 173.

Police arrested Robert Acken, 26, of Antioch, for illegal transportation of open alcohol by a passenger. He was later transported to Lake County Jail on an outstanding burglary charge.

Police also charged Jon Acken, 27, of Fox Lake, for illegal transportation of alcohol by a passenger.

The driver of the vehicle was issued a warning for a defective muffler.

According to reports, police saw two open cans of Miller Lite beer between Robert Acken's legs in a puddle of beer. There was also an open 12-pack of Old Style beer between Jon Acken's feet. Jon Acken was later released.—by KEVIN HANRAHAN

Lake Villa man serves jail time for cable theft

A Lake Villa man has been sentenced to four days in the Babcox Justice Center for attempting to steal cable television service from US Cable of Lake County.

According to Lake County Assistant State's Attorney Chris Kennedy, 37-year-old Jeffrey Corder entered into a plea bargain, will pay fines and spend four days in jail for cutting off cable service to his neighbors' homes while trying to hook his own home up with free cable television service. In addition, Corder will be released on a conditional discharge in which he will spend another 16 days in jail if he violates the terms of his order.

"Back in January, the Lake County Sheriff's department responded to a phone call from one of Corder's neighbors," Kennedy said, "and upon investigation, officers followed footprints in the snow leading from Corder's house to a telephone pole in his backyard. He even borrowed a neighbor's ladder to climb the pole, where he managed to cut off cable television service to his neighbors' homes in an attempt to receive free cable."

Corder's sentencing on May 28 brought the four-month investigation to an end.

Kennedy said that cable theft is something the state's attorney's office takes very seriously. They have prosecuted a half dozen other cases of cable theft in Lake County this year.

US Cable General Manager Paul Ashley said, "We are going to be very aggressive in making sure that people who steal cable are prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. No matter how you look at it, cable theft is a crime."

There's more to the month of June than weddings

Congratulations to those of you who will participate in any type of graduation ceremony this month, whether it be from preschool, junior high, high school or college. Graduating from any grade is quite a major milestone in one's life and should be well recognized as such.

To you little ones who have progressed up the ranks of walking, talking and potty training, graduating from preschool calls for another entry in your baby book.

To those of you who just graduated from junior high, you will probably have the toughest road ahead of you. In junior high you were the top bananas, the head honchos, the most respected, the most feared, you were King of the school. Well young ladies and gentlemen, a gentle warning to you: Next year when you start high school, you will be low man on the totem pole! Get read to suffer at the hands of the upper classmen—especially if you have an older sibling already in high school.

To high school graduates, this is your time of independence, whether it be off to the college of your choice or out into the working world. Most of you will be on your own for the first time, away from curfews, chores and that family quality time. Yes, you will be out there supporting yourself, paying bills, or perhaps skipping classes and spending Spring Break in Florida. In the back of your mind, though, you still have the security that if things get a little tight or ends just don't seem to meet, mom and dad always have a well-stocked refrigerator and plenty of laundry soap.

For those of you who are graduates of college and have that certificate in your hand proclaiming you are now qualified to perform your chosen field—welcome to Reality 101! Now is when you will find yourself becoming respectable, settling down, finding a decent job, perhaps even getting married, having 2.3 children, buying a house with a yard and a sensible car, rearranging your priorities and staying home to watch Home Improvement. In other words, you have reached the ultimate destination: You have turned into your parents!

Oh, it might not happen tomorrow or the next day, but that eye-opening day will sneak up on you before you know it and slap you square in the face one morning while you are looking at the reflection in the mirror or groaning as you get up out of bed.

Congratulations and all the best to you in your futures.

Rummage sale

Although you can't really tell by the weather, folks, it is June, which means it's time for the St. Peter's Annual Rummage-O-Rama. This is a great opportunity for you to get rid of all that stuff that has piled up in your garage, basement, attic and closets over the winter months. They are looking for any items you are tired of: big, little, old, new, even ugly, as long as it works, is clean or has a viable purpose.

Now if you have items that need to be picked up or stored, just call Claudette at 395-6744 and she'll take that unwanted object off your hands. If you have treasures to donate and would like to drop them off, you can do so at the school between 8 a.m. and 9 p.m. Tax deductible receipts are available upon request.

Some of the items they are looking for include: washers, dryers, stoves, dishwashers, antiques, indoor and outdoor furniture, tools, linens, cars, boats, motorcycles, sports equipment, toys, clothes, jewelry or small appliances. Please don't drop off children, pets or in-laws, as they don't sell well. The actual sale will take place June 20, 21, 22 and 23, so mark your calendars for one of the summer's biggest events.

A week can't go by

It wouldn't seem fitting to end a column without some mention of the ever-popular line dancing craze that is sweeping across our town like the prairie fires before our Ark-building days. So once again I find myself looking at a flyer sent to me by the illustrious "Old, Retired, Line-Dancin' Lizard."

The Parks and Recreation Dept. is once again offering line dance lessons on Wednesday evenings from 7 to 8:30 p.m. at Grass Lake School. The new eight-week session begins Wednesday, June 12. Cost for the lessons is $35, $40 or $45, depending on village, township, or out-of-Antioch residency. Both men and women are welcome, high school age on up to 100 years old. I'm sure if you are 102, though, they won't deny you entry. For registration information call Cheryl, the parks director, at 395-2160, and yee-ha!

And so goes another "Jingle from Pringle"...don't forget to call 395-6364.

St. Peter's plans annual rummage sale

Put St. Peter's annual Rummage Sale on your garage sale route June 20-23.

For the 37th year, the school and church will offer bargains and deals at its annual thrift sale in the school gymnasium.

Organizers are still seeking donations such as antiques, collectibles and clothing for the sale.

"We'll take anything people want to donate," said one organizer.

CLC Golf Day rescheduled

The College of Lake County Foundation's May 20 Golf Day, which was canceled because of rain, has been rescheduled for June 24. The benefit event will include 18 holes of golf at Glen Flora Country Club in Waukegan, a cocktail reception and a silent auction. Reservations are still being accepted for the event, which will benefit the Foundation scholarship fund.

Golf Day activities will begin at 11 a.m. with registration and a buffet lunch, followed by tee off at 1 p.m. A reception consisting of cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will begin at 6 p.m., followed by a silent auction and door prizes.

The registration fee is $250 per person or $1,000 per foursome. Tickets to attend the reception only are $50. For information and registration, call the CLC Foundation office at 223-6601, ext. 2401.

Scholarship available

Applications are now being accepted for the Keith Ryan Memorial Scholarship which provides a $1,000 award for a CLC student in print or broadcast communications. The scholarship was established in memory of the late Lake County sportscaster who died of cancer in 1989.

The scholarship is open to Lake County residents who are current CLC students or those who will have graduated from a Lake County high school by the application deadline. Preference will be given to applicants who have demonstrated involvement in print or broadcast communications.

For large items, volunteers will come and pick up the items from people's homes on June 6 from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Proceeds benefit both the school and the church such as plans to move the sixth- to eighth-grade classes at the school to the convent.

"We're hoping the rummage sale will be a good year for our children," the organizer said.

Hours of the rummage will be from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on June 20 and 21, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. on June 22, and from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m. on June 23.

Crafters Gallery offers something for everyone

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Newly opened Crafters Gallery in downtown Antioch offers a little something for everybody—craft seekers and craft makers included.

Proprietor Eloise Estes expanded on the craft fair idea by offering miniature booths for individual crafters to rent space and to display their products, while giving craft seekers a wide variety of crafts to choose from at the same time.

"I've always done crafts," said Estes, a former nurse. "When I saw this idea, I thought it was a great idea and it took off from there."

Essentially she provides a craft fair on a daily basis for crafters to show off their goods and for craft shoppers to peruse through a wide assortment of craft ideas. She put the idea to action three years ago in a Grayslake store.

"It's becoming a popular concept because crafters need a way to sell their products," said Estes, who transported her shop from Grayslake to a store in downtown Antioch on Lake Street.

Estes is no stranger to Antioch. For nearly a decade, she ran the former "Evergreen Cafe" on Route 83 near Floral Acres. "It's amazing how many former customers I have ran into," she commented.

With the Metra commuter station expected to open in August and the community park planned for the east side of downtown, Estes said she has high hopes for locating her business downtown.

Crafters Gallery is a craft shopper's dream as it offers everything from the popular American Girl Doll furniture and clothing to brodered clothing, hand-made quilts, miniatures, personal portraits, hand-painted pots and a vast collection of wood crafts to perk anybody's interest.

"I take mail orders, and we personalize," Estes added. Her daughter Anne Lass also assists at the store.

She also offers a variety of styles including country, folk and Victorian, perfect to adorn the home or to decorate the office.

Seventy-six crafters display their goods in neatly arranged booths. Estes said she is "always" looking for more crafters to rent space. She has not yet rented fully her main floor space and she has a basement she looks forward to fill.

Gift Basket Inc. offers variety

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Looking for a gift that is not too personal, yet very befitting.

The Gift Basket Inc. just might have something on hand. If not, you or they can create a gift that fits just right.

A threesome of main investors hope to make a go of their new specialty store on Lake Street in downtown Antioch.

As the name might imply, The Gift Basket Inc. offers a variety of gifts wrapped up nicely in a basket. From gourmet coffee to chocolate treats, the store offers 600 different gift items to package into a basket.

"It's a new venture, and we're starting to work on a catalog and phone sales," noted Robert Zientek, who is joined by his wife Shirley and Ann Adrian as the investors of the store.

Gift seekers can create their own gift basket, purchase a pre-made kit, or just buy various items without the basket. The store also offers the "Woods of Windsor" fragrance collection as well as a wide assortment of scented candles.

While the fragrance collection has captured a quick audience, the mainstay of the store is its gift baskets.

Gift baskets offer seasonal gifts during holidays such as upcoming Father's Day, July 4th or other special days such as Secretary's Day. They also provide an escape for that person difficult to buy for such as bosses, teachers or neighbors.

"Let's face it, you can put anything in a basket and make it into a gift," noted Shirley Zientek. For example, some gift ideas include a variety of BBQ sauces for that flame-broiling neighbor or gourmet pastas for a boss who may dabble in the kitchen.

"We've got over 600 items to make into a basket," noted Shirley.

Gift baskets are quickly becoming ideal as corporate gifts for employees.

A wine and cheese version or other specialty wine baskets are in the making, pending a wine and beer license from the village.

Although the Gift Basket is one of Antioch's newest businesses, it is already making friends in the business community. The store purchases its baskets from Antioch-based Malnekoff Enterprises, which distributes baskets.

"We believe in Antioch, and we believe it will really take off," said Robert Zientek, who described Antioch's growing antique and craft corridor as very Long Grove-like.

—LETTER TO THE Editor—

Village cares

Editor:

Thank you for the opportunity to respond to two comments published in your May 31, 1996 edition of Lipservice. As we have discussed before, your use of information from unnamed sources makes it impossible for the village to respond personally to the concerns of residents who call your newspaper.

One caller refers to the development of Tiffany Farms on land commonly known as the CABL property. During the 1970s, this property was annexed and zoned to allow for 901 family units as follows: 140-acres (R-2) with 756 single family homes (5.4 dwelling units per acre); 11-acres (R-1) with 25 single family homes; 22-acres (R-5) with 120 apartments plus 14-acres (b-2) for business.

As a first step toward reducing the permitted number of family units which could be built on this property, the village board attempted to change its official Land Use Map in 1989. However, those efforts were met with threats of legal action which the village almost certainly could not have won. Recently, an engineering feasibility study showed that 532 homes could be built on 146.6-acres (Most of the property zoned for business was purchased by School Dist. 34). Through negotiation between the village and new buyers, the density was reduced first to 440 and then to 414 single family homes, a number in conformance with the village Comprehensive Plan.

A preliminary plan reflecting 414 single family homes on 160-acres recently was approved by the village board. This plan also received support in a formal letter from County Board Rep. Judy Martini. Final plans have not yet been submitted for approval. In the meantime, the village successfully negotiated a park agreement providing 24.5 acres of land—an amount substantially larger than the 8-acres required by village ordinance—plus additional cash on a per lot basis for park improvements. Also, more realistic estimates of new school children predict less than half the number stated by the caller. A village board vote against this plan for reduced density would have allowed existing zoning permitting greater density to remain in force.

Another caller implies that the village improperly annexed and rezoned for industrial just "65-acres of wetland property located between Little Silver Lake and Rte. 173.) Actually, the parcel contains approximately 26-acres (40 percent) of wetlands and 39-acres (60 percent) of land not classified as wetlands. The Army Corp of Engineers strictly prohibits development of significant wetlands regardless of how they are zoned. Ultimately the zoning was changed to M-1 Special Use to allow for the sale of automobiles and similar items, and to M-1 PUD to allow for light industry, but with controls stricter than ordinary M-1 zoning requires.

The caller suggests that the village should rezone and purchase this parcel for a "public reserve." Both suggestions are especially ironic.

The rezoning was approved to bring much needed tax relief to residents suffering from high property tax bills. (Increased sales tax revenue from the sale of additional cars, and increased tax dollars from industrial development, will reduce the need by local governments for property tax dollars from homeowners while creating new local jobs.

If the village board decided to buy the property, the purchase price would have to be divided among all property tax payers. Also, a referendum would have to be passed by the voters because the amount of tax dollars needed would exceed the village's taxing limits imposed by tax cap legislation. Furthermore, it is well known that I never served on the Zoning Board and never worked for the former property owner in his capacity as a developer. Whether on a board or not, no single individual has the power to change zoning.

Because your newspaper does provide a significant public service, why not replace Lipservice with more space for signed Letters to the Editor? In a traditional town meeting, folks have the opportunity to stand up and be heard, but rarely if ever are they allowed the luxury of voicing their opinions while hiding their identities.

STUBBED TOES

Getting out of bed in the dark is hazardous to toes. Stubbing them into an unseen obstacle is always painful and is a frequent cause of toe fractures. Worse, some people don't realize they have broken a toe and needed treatment may be neglected.

What to do about stubbed toes?

Minimize swelling with cold compresses or ice bag. Apply for 20 minutes at 40-minute intervals.

See your podiatrist as soon as possible. Toe fractures need prompt attention.

If you have a simple, undisplaced fracture, care by the podiatrist usually produces early relief. But if X-rays reveal a displaced or angulated break, prompt "setting" by the podiatrist is in order. Such fractures, if not promptly treated, might result in painfully deformed toes.

2 plans emerge as sewer study nears completion

KEVIN HANRAHAN
Staff Reporter

Two options are being considered so far as the much awaited Antioch Township sewer study nears completion.

The feasibility study, which was funded by the Lake County Board, will determine the possibility and cost analysis of offering sewer service to unincorporated residents. The study will also include non-sewer alternatives for areas that might be too costly to provide sewer service.

The United Homeowners Association of Unincorporated Antioch, led by its president Carole Jonites, orchestrated the battle for a sewer study almost two years ago. More than 2,000 residents have lent their support behind the study.

Following a Public Services Committee meeting early Wednesday, Jonites reported that two options were created thusfar, and the study is between 70 and 75 percent complete.

"To actually look up at the board and see two plans was exciting," Jonites said.

One plan calls for 10 lift stations, while the other plan calls for 12 lift stations. Other specifics of either plan are not available yet, and there were no cost estimates.

Jonites, however, said county officials indicated they would seek a variety of grants as alternative funding sources to implement any future sewer plan.

"At some time, the homeowners will decide if a sewer plan is affordable for them," Jonites said.

This year's abnormally wet spring has been particularly difficult for unincorporated residents with septic fields in their yards.

"This spring has been extremely bad with septic fields because yards are flooding over septic fields," Jonites said.

Hockney

three villages on a rotating basis.

An influx of scholarship opportunities this year from various businesses and social organizations seem to indicate the communities are embracing the high school.

"I am really encouraged by the relationships that have been formed," Hockney said.

The school will also be instituting a Consortium of Educational Change in which representatives from the board, faculty and the teachers association begin brainstorming sessions for education changes. Community and business leaders and parents will be invited to participate.

In the meantime, Hockney said he will continue building relationships between the school and the communities. At the same time, he will spearhead the school's drive in technology, such as opening access to the Internet next year, and begin planning for the school's future space needs.

"It's nice to see the entire community working and talking with each other and becoming involved with the school," Hockney said.

Inside the school, Mullendore has led the charge of building relationships within the halls of ACHS between the faculty and the administration and between adults and young adults.

Number one on her priority list was improving attendance rates at ACHS, where skipping class and school were quickly reaching alarming numbers.

A year later, overall attendance rates have improved dramatically. For example, the school averaged between 40 to 50 class cuts per period last year. This year, the average ranged between 2 to 3 class cuts per period.

"We were where we were supposed to be at the right time," Mullendore said.

She noted overall school improvement begins with attendance. For example, the schools with the best ACT averages (i.e. Libertyville, Stevenson and Lake Forest) also have the best attendance records.

Mullendore said studies indicate grades and test scores improve with better attendance as the morale between teachers and students also improve.

"We achieved getting into a positive cycle with attendance," Mullendore said.

Attendance will prove important with the incoming freshman class as the board of education increased the number of credits needed to graduate from 20 to 22.5 beginning with the Class of 2000 which begins high school next fall.

Emphasizing respect and encouraging student involvement in school activities will also continue to be stressed.

"We'd like every student to choose at least one activity they would like to become involved in for the good of the school," Mullendore said.

She also said the administration will continue to refine its efforts to help students set goals and plan for success.

"We want students to take ownership in their education," Mullendore said.

Chain okay, south river no-wake

The Fox Waterway Agency announced the conditions on the Chain O' Lakes are boating as usual, though there are a few restrictions on the Fox River.

As of Wednesday, Agency officials explained while no-wakes have been lifted on the lakes, the area of the river between Stratton Lock and Dam in McHenry and Algonquin has a no-wake restriction.

The Fox River north between Stratton Lock and Dam and Pistakee Lake is open to regular boating.

The south part of the river is suffering due to heavy rains over the last few weeks.

All boaters are advised to be on the lookout for floating debris caused by the high water levels.—by

Marine Unit advises boaters of new no-wake

The Lake County Sheriff's Police Marine Safety Unit reminds boaters on the Chain O' Lakes that there are new "No Wake" zones on Grass Lake. At the mouth of the Fox River, near Whisky Point and Blarney's Island, is a marked navigation channel to take boaters to the center "traffic lane" of Grass Lake. The area south of the channel is a "No Wake" area, for all types of watercraft.

Additionally, there is a "No Motorized Vessel" area directly north of Blarney's Island. Boaters can identify this area by observing a white buoy, with an orange diamond, and the words "No Motors."

The Marine Safety Unit, as well as Illinois State DNR Police, will patrol this area. Persons may be cited for flagrant or repeated violation of these two new restricted areas. These zones were created by the Fox Waterway Agency in an effort to reduce the buildup of silt which is exacerbated by heavy boating traffic.

Boaters may alert the Sheriff's Police of violators of these zones—or report any type of unsafe boaters—by contacting the Marine Unit on Ship to Shore Radio Channel 16. Get any basic information such as color, length, make, number of persons on board, and registration numbers of the boat. A cellular phone can also be used. The Lake County Marine Safety Unit telephone number is 587-4470.

For further information, contact Captain Willie Smith, Lake County Sheriff's Police Marine Safety Unit Commander, at 587-4470.

remaining 10.8 acres is part of unbuildable wetlands and flood plains which are likely to be left as open space.

Cheryl McCameron, director of the parks and recreation department, said the park donation offers a variety of opportunities.

She said the site offers a blend of active recreation with the buildable areas and passive recreation with the unbuildable wetland area.

"We definitely feel there are a lot of possibilities there," McCameron said. "We're anxious to start talking about plans."

She also said the site lends itself for ample parking and for a possible building. Sequoit Creek also runs through the parcel to offer other types of park opportunities as well.

Village Administrator Tim Wells said the density of the property was reduced to 414 units with the park donation. It also happened to be in an area where the developer would have difficulty providing access for a new cul-de-sac.

The village board approved the park donation in concept.

The park site will not be officially dedicated to the village until final plan approval of the entire development. The village will receive $100 to go toward the park with each new building permit issued for new homes.

Elementary track stars fare well at state

DANIEL RAMAGE

Sports Editor

Several future Olympians from the area converged on Washington, Ill., for the Illinois Elementary School Association's Class AA track and field championships. Though none was able to bring home the trophy of the state champ, all came up with extraordinary efforts to qualify for the meet.

Lake Zurich North qualified several athletes for the event. Sara Gibbons competed in the preliminary round of the 7th grade girls 100 meter low hurdles, finishing with a :19.01 effort. Teammate Molly Hicks also qualified in the 7th grade 100 meter dash, clocking in at :14.13.

For Lake Zurich North's 8th grade girls team, Kim Kotulski was the top qualifier, finishing the 100 meter low hurdles in :18.13.

D.L. Story and Andy Pasquesi were the top finishers for the Lake Zurich North boys team. Story zooming through the 7th grade boys 100 meter dash with respectable time of :12.00, while Pasquesi completed the 8th grade boys event in :12.47.

Across town at Lake Zurich South, Kaeli Stagnito led the charge, whipping through the 7th grade girls 100 meter low hurdles with a time of :14.27.

Vernon Hills Hawthorn was well represented in the event, with two qualifiers making the trip to Washington. Jason Barry ran the 7th grade boys 110 meter low hurdles, checking in at :19.81. Lisa Coffee was the girls qualifier from Vernon Hills, finishing with a time of :14.02 in the 8th grade girls 100 meter dash.

Antioch sent a pair of qualifiers to the meet. Kristen Gamlin carried the mail for the girls, finishing the 8th grade girls 100 meter dash in :13.70. Keli Owens represented the 8th grade boys in the 110 meter low hurdles, turning in a creditable time of :16.87.

From Gurnee, Viking trackster Jamie Jones earned herself a trip to the big dance. She came close to advancing in the 7th grade girls 100 meter low hurdles, falling just shy of the semi-final heats with a :17.89 clocking in the preliminaries.

Antioch bunts its way past 'Devils to shot at top

STEVE PETERSON

The bunt.

Used effectively, it can be the most potent weapon in softball. More powerful than a screaming home run, more rattling than a double play.

Why — if used by each batter, as Antioch showed in the first-round Waukegan regional clash with Warren in an 11-3 romp — it can simply dominate the game.

"We had good defense and we had a lot of people who can bunt the ball and get key hits," ACHS Coach Judy Smithheiser said.

The Sequoits gained their 15th win of the season thanks to the bunts, a key dropped fly ball here or there and eight Warren errors. The Sequoits had to wait a week to go 3-0 against the Blue Devils (13-10) and then were whisked off to graduation ceremony.

"I use the fastball and the rise and I work the fastball in and out," ACHS winning pitcher Jamie Silarski said.

Silarski had five strikeouts and four walks and gave up seven hits. The hit category was fairly close, 10-7 Antioch, but the defense was the difference. Warren committed eight errors to Antioch's two.

"ACHS is a nice club. They had some good shots, but we beat ourselves," Warren Coach Tim Van Heirseele said.

Warren sent eight batters to the plate in the second inning. The Blue Devils could only score one run, as Nicole Thompson singled and scored on an error. After that, it was all Antioch as the Sequoits scored in six innings.

Linda DeSalvo and Katie Cox had two hits each. Cox had three RBIs, including a two-

RBI bunt.

Already ahead 4-1 thanks to a two-run double by Sarah Rackow, the lead mounted in the Antioch fourth. A dropped fly ball started the Sequoits on a six-batter, six-run inning. Cox had a bunt single and scored a run and two runs scored on ground out by Jen Schmidt, one on a ground out by Stephanie Henschen.

Warren tried to rally in the fourth as the first two batters reached. Jenny Rice walked and Lisa Buckingham double. But two fielder's choices erased one run. A run scored on an error and Brianne Fisher's RBI hit scored another, but Silarski got Warren's Tracy Fiedler to strikeout.

The eventual sectional champion Mustangs ousted Antioch 7-2 in the regional semifinal.

Long-time friends gain wins, respect for ACHS

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Stu Johnson, Kevin Eckenshtaler, Jim and John Groth have been playing baseball together for much of their 17 years.

So it appeared fitting that Antioch High would reach its level of post-season success this year and the brink of a 20-win effort. A 4-1 comeback win over Round Lake continued the strong bonding these Sequoit friends have.

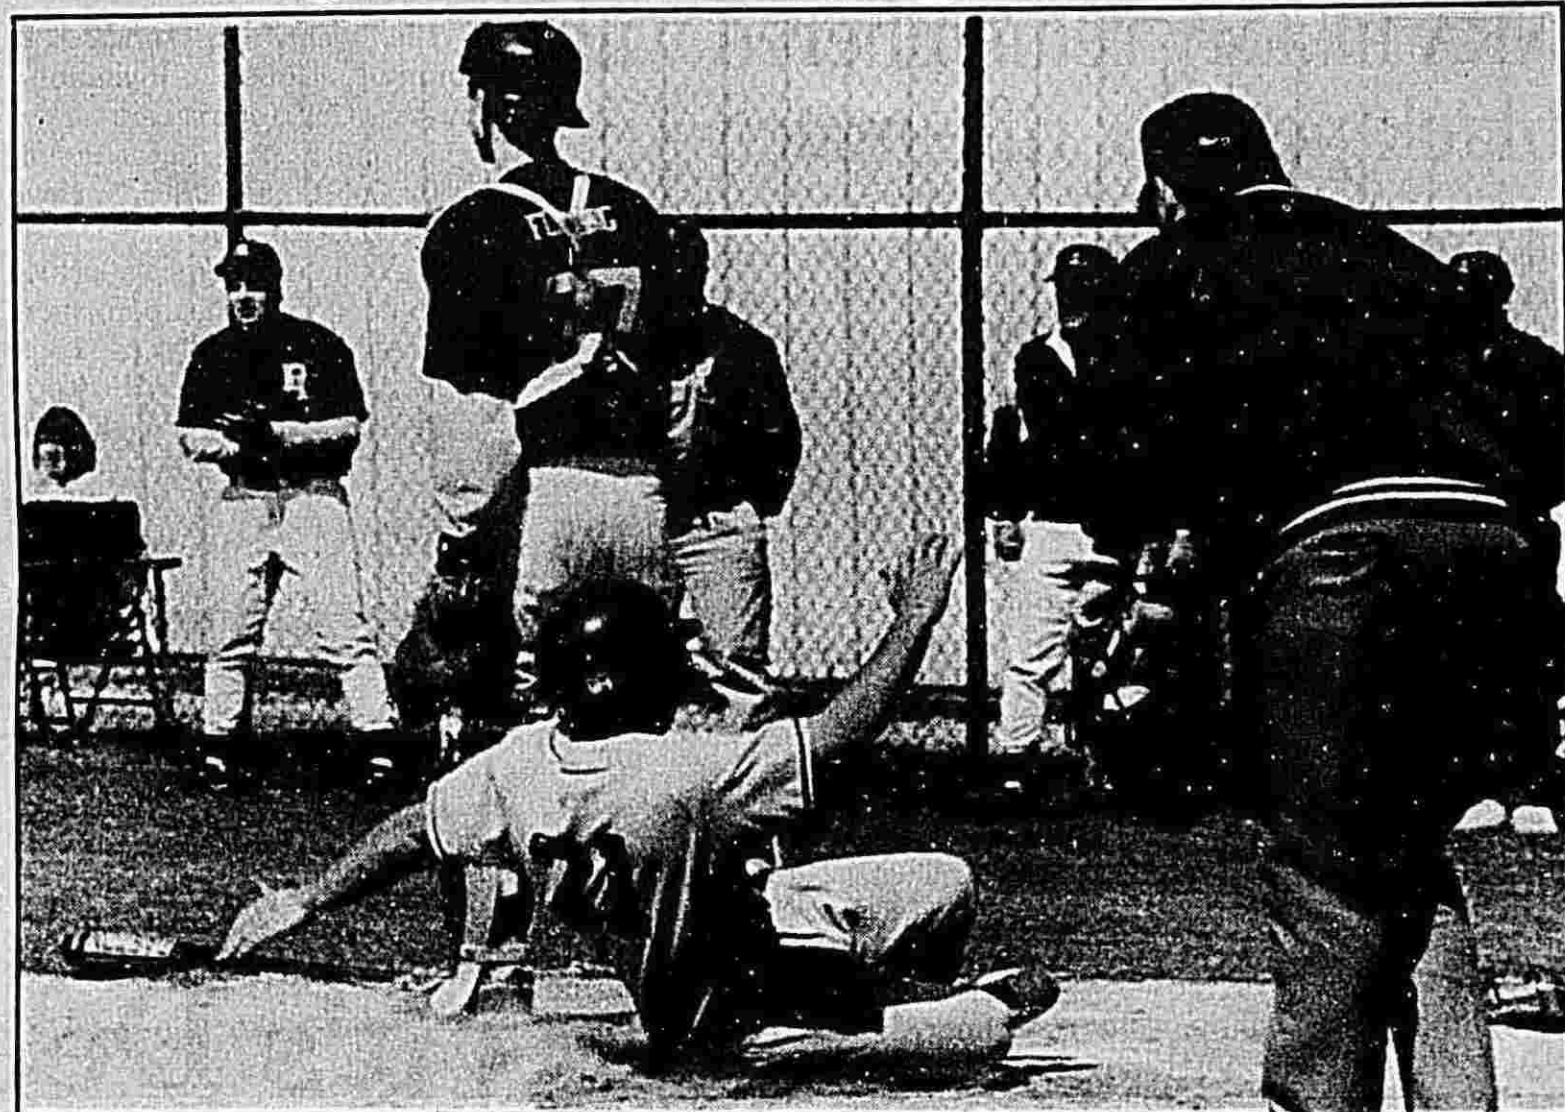

"I have been hitting the ball pretty good — getting a hit a game and have been consistent. I have taken some extra time in the batting cage — it is just practice, practice and practice. If you do not like repetition, baseball is not the game for you," Johnson said.

The third baseman made assists on all three put outs as Kevin Arft gained his ninth win. More importantly, the Sequoits advanced in the second round of Waukegan regional action with a 19-8 mark.

"We have been playing baseball together since we were five years old. We were looking forward to this season," Johnson said.

It was Johnson's two-run triple in the sixth inning which drove home Jim Groth, who singled and Chris Groth, who reached on an error after a bunt.

The bunt attack continued as pinch hitter Bill Olson dropped one which the Round Lake pitcher could not handle, and Jim Ewert followed with an RBI double to seal the Panthers' fate.

Antioch's Stu Johnson slides across the plate with one of the Sequoits' four runs in a comeback win over Round Lake in regional baseball action. Despite losing to Waukegan in the final game of the season, ACHS posted an outstanding 19-8 mark. — Photo by Steve Young Waukegan would down Antioch 13-9 in the regional semifinal.

"It was the story of the season — one bad inning. That is not to take away from the hard work of the kids. I am very proud of how hard they worked," Round Lake Coach Howard Conkling said.

The Panthers had a 1-0 lead through five innings thanks to doubles by Dennis Ramirez and Pat Foley in the third.

Ramirez had a 2-8 record for the 4-24 Panthers, but had a solid 2.70 ERA.

Foley, named all-Northwest Suburban Conference, was a leader behind the plate and hit .362.

But this was a day for the Sequoits. Arft settled down after the doubles, allowing five total hits and fanning seven.

"We did not have real good defense early. They did not hit the ball hard. We finished the season with beating Warren twice — it was too bad we could not get some of the other games in because of the rain," ACHS Coach Paul Petty said.

Junior judo prodigy makes headway fast

DANIEL RAMAGE

Sports Editor

She may be small, but it would be a mistake to consider eight-year-old Kaela Munster of Fox Lake a pushover.

Munster, with only a few months of training under her diminutive belt, has been taking the world of competitive judo by storm. One of her recent conquests was the the sixth annual Uptown Judo Tournament at Stevenson High School in Lincolnshire. The mighty might went undefeated in the double-elimination tournament, winning four matches and capturing the seven- and eight-year-old division.

It wasn't a particularly new feeling for Munster, who had already taken first place in the the Wadahachi Invitational Judo Tournament in Milwaukee, Wis., and second place at the Tohkon Classic Tournament in Chicago. She also took third place at the huge Am/Can International Judo Challenge in Buffalo, NY, and first Michigan State Judo Championships.

Perhaps the most amazing thing about Munster's accomplishments is that the young martial artist has only been involved in the sport since last September.

Judo is something of a tradition in the Munster household, with Kaela's father Leroy a former judo competitor. Kaela became aware of the sport when she saw her younger brother Leroy IV taking classes, but she really got interested when she found out it wasn't for boys only.

"I thought it was a boys sport and it wasn't," said Kaela. "And then I saw a black belt girl and it looked liked fun. We called her 'stretchy legs' because she could put her feet behind her head. I thought that was neat."

"Her interest was peaked," said Kaela's mother Raedel. "We hemmed and hawed, then decided she could try it. She really enjoys it."

Munster trains at the Uptown Judo Club in Buffalo Grove, and as a champ she is in great company. The club, run by former Olympians Steve and Erwin Cohen, has a tradition of excellence, producing four Olympians — including a silver medalist — one female See PRODIGY page A13

Athlete of the Week

Antioch Community High School's Megan Durney, of the ACHS track team, has been recognized for her accomplishments by being named Athlete of the Week by First Chicago Bank/Thelen Sand & Gravel. Durney specialized in the 3,200 meter run and qualified for the IHSA state meet. She placed first or second in 12 meets this year. Pictured with Durney are, from left, Gary Burnette of The National Bank of Chicago-Antioch, and ACHS Track Coach Dick Harland. Bristol Shooting Ranges in Bristol, Wis., will host a black powder long rifle match on Sunday, July 21.

The tournament is sponsored by the Conservation Club of Kenosha County and is held in commemoration of the 125 anniversary of the National Rifle Association and that group's first matches at Creed's Farm in Long Island, NY.

This match is open to any safe, original or replica muzzle-loading rifle or any safe, original or replica single-shot black powder cartridge rifle. The rifles will be fired from 200 yards in this NRA-approved match.

Registration begins at 8 a.m. and competition will start at 9 a.m. All NRA long range black powder rifles will apply. Registration will be limited to the first 48 shooters, so early pre-registration is strongly recommended.

For more information or to pre-register, write to Joseph E. Volpendesta, 3405 Eva Avenue, Park City, Ill., 60085-5918. You may also call (847) 249-5362 and leave a message. Calls will be returned.

The CCKC range is located a quarter mile west of U.S. 45 on County AH in Bristol.

Grant nine bows out to Zee-Bees

The post-season mirrored the regular season for Grant High's baseball team.

That is, win one, lose one.

"We played one of our better games of the year against Grayslake (a 10-0 win) and one of our worst games of the year against Zion-Benton," Grant Coach Lee Radditz said.

The Bulldogs lost 13-3 to Zion-Benton in the second round of the Waukegan regional tournament for a 12-14 overall record.

"We had four or five key errors — they had only two or three earned runs. Our defense let us down, especially in the outfield and that is where we have been strong," Radditz said.

Grant started the game with a 3-0 lead. Shaun Eaton had an RBI double and Mike Nelson brought home two with a single. Mark Cobb and Dave Martin both had singles off Zion winner David Griffin.

But two of the Zion four first-inning runs were a harbinger of things to come. Zion took the lead in the first and never looked back, four in the third and five in the fourth.

"Our big problem all year has been consistency. We would win one, lose one. Our longest winning streak was three games and our longest losing streak was three games," Radditz said.

Seniors Cobb and Martin made the all-Northwest Suburban Conference team along with junior Shaun Eaton. John Dunlavy and Scott Lanners, both seniors, were honorable mention.

Ward leads Carmel squad to crown

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Call it Celebration, Part II.

Unfortunately for Carmel High's baseball team, neither one Saturday involved the Corsairs. Rolling Meadows' eighth inning run was enough to eliminate CHS 1-0.

Rolling Meadows' Brian Luna delivered the clinching blow, a two-out single which scored pinch runner John Amelio. That ended the gutsy effort by Carmel pitcher Josh Ward.

Ward, of Lindenhurst, survived a automobile crash Friday night along Route 59 and came back to pitch the next day at Barrington. That did not slow him from a five-inning no hitter against Rolling Meadows, a team many picked to win the state tournament.

"It was a great performance. We did not know about the accident until today. But he was fine. We will have Ward and McMahon (Mike) back next year," CHS Coach Chuck Gandolfi said. "Our kids battled them - a 29-5 and nationally ranked team."

A baserunning gaffe was one of the features of this goofy first Saturday in June. Winning pitcher Rick Kirsten, in the seventh inning, was doubled off of first base after Quinn Chism had singled. He kept on running to home plate, thinking he had scored the winning run.

Carmel (16-19) was in the Barrington sectional for the third straight year, had a baserunner on in every inning. The bottom of the order came through when Mike Nordeen and Dan Bacheowski singled with one out in the sixth. But Rolling Meadows got out of that jam as well.

Mark Staehle had two hits, a single in the third and double in the first. Ward helped his own cause with a second inning single and Nordeen had a pair of hits.

Carmel advanced to Barrington as Eric Ames knocked in four runs, including a bases clearing triple in a 14-2 regional final thrashing of crosstown rival Mundelein. An eight-run second inning based on three hits and several walks paced the Corsairs. Scott Scripture had an RBI and Mike Mahon had a steal of home and added an RBI along with Matt Dana.

Ward gained the win, his ninth as he split the duties on the mound with Ames.

Carmel outlasted McHenry 5-4 in the quarterfinals.

But as per history, someone else would be celebrating long the dinner hour the first June Saturday.

Power picks up win, Storm drops one - Antioch Youth Baseball -

Power

The Lindenhurst Power U-15 girls soccer team began their State Cup play with a 5-1 victory over Mt. Prospect Green and White. Despite being outshot, Mt. Prospect scored first, putting in a rebound off a shot on which keeper Kristina Giangiorgi dove to her right to make the initial save but could not hold onto.

After the Mt. Prospect goalkeeper made several saves and after a ball hit the crossbar and hit on the goal line, the Power was finally able to connect when Jaimie Wismer was able to bang in a shot during a scramble in front of the net. The Power then scored four more goals in a 12-minute span. Sarah Richardson volleyed in a cross from Wismer. Richardson then scored her second goal off a pass from Lauren Beatty. Richardson later intercepted a goal kick and set up Wismer, who was able to tally her second score. Richardson then got the hat trick on a mirror image play when Wismer stole a goal kick and crossed the ball for the final goal.

The Power defense of Nicci Estep, Kristen Gamlin, Kelsey Hendrickson, Cara Robinson and Esther Scheurer shut down the Green and White attack for most of the game.

Storm

The Lindenhurst Storm U-14 girls soccer team played hard but dropped a 4-2 game to the visiting Lincoln Way Hurricanes.

Lincoln Way scored two quick goals off corner kicks when the Storm was unable to clear the crossing ball. Lincoln Way went up 3-0 before Teri LaRoche was able to fight her way through the Hurricane defense and score on a breakaway. The Hurricane goalie made a save on the initial shot, but LaRoche got her own rebound, and as she was falling to the ground, was able to direct the ball into the left-hand corner of the net. Lincoln Way came back and scored another goal to make it 4-1 at half time.

The Storm came on strong in the second half and dominated play throughout the rest of the game. Jourdan Phillips scored the only goal of the second half, booming home a volley from about 20 yards out. Stepping up and playing excellent games in the second half were Rachael Masters, Christy Plotz and Amie Smit.

The Storm is now 2-4-1 on the season.

Junior World champ, one Men's World medalist, four Pan-American Games medalists, and over 100 national champs.

"They (Kaela's coaches) are impressed," said Raedel. "They see the talent, the determination and the drive, and they try to inspire her. And they encourage us to have her participate in more tournaments."

"At first she went to (to practice) one day a week, and she seemed to have a natural aptitude, so we moved her up to club level."

Kaela's daily workout is not an easy one, especially considering her age. She does 50 push-ups, 100 sit-ups and runs. She feels the workout also helps her with her other sports, soccer in particular.

Kaela now practices at the club an average of three times per week, and is currently training for the summer tournaments, including the Junior Olympics, to be held in Evanston in July.

Munster is not a one-trick pony by any means, however. She and her twin sister Trista are also standouts in soccer. In addition, they swim, sail and water ski, and Trista has recently taken up judo as well. They combine the best of brains and athletic, both girls bring home straight 'A' report cards from St. Bede's in Ingleside. Making grades is just another part of the discipline to Kaela — she sometimes has to do her homework at the club while her brother practices.

Of course, all this competition means a lot of travel time for parents, but according to Raedel "We're really proud of her and we'll take her as far as she can go."

And how far does she want to go?

"Someday I'll be in the Olympics and get first," said Kaela. "That's the big one (goal). I also want to go to Notre Dame, because they have both sports (soccer and judo)."

Girls soccer travel team try-outs set

The Lindenhurst Soccer League is conducting try-outs for its Girls' Travel Teams for the U-13 to U-19 levels. This includes girls entering seventh grade through their senior year in the coming fall.

Try-outs will be held Saturday, June 15, at 5 p.m. at Polley Field in Antioch.

Anyone interested can call 605-3133 (days) or 356-9025 (evenings) for additional information.

ACHS holding summer tennis camps

Any 6-8 grade or high school students wanting to learn the fundamentals of tennis or enhance their game play is encouraged to attend the summer clinics sponsored by Antioch Community High School.

The clinics will be run by the boys varsity and junior varsity coaches, Bryan Plinske and Mike Regnier.

There will be three sessions

The basics of ground strokes, volleys and serves will be covered, along with the rules for match play.

There must be a minimum of eight students enrolled to have the session, but groups will be limited to 12 students.

Cost per session is $30, and balls will be provided. Fridays are normally makeup days for tennis rain outs.

To enroll, call 395-1421, ext. 852.

Soccer club to hold tryouts

Breakaway Soccer Club will hold tryouts for its Girls U-14 Travel Team (birth dates between Aug. 1, 1982 to July 31, 1984) on Saturday, June 8, at 10 a.m. This tryout, for the IWSL's fall '96/spring '97 season, will be held at Polley Fields at the corner of Deep Lake and Grass Lake Roads in Antioch. For more information call 356-2430.

Graduates face new challenges leaving dependency behind

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Editor in Chief

For 55 women perhaps the only and most important graduation they will ever attend was not about caps and gowns or pomp and circumstance.

It was about overcoming barriers and self-sufficiency. It was about independence and self-confidence.

It was about making a better future for their children.

It was about getting a job.

And, most importantly, for the women it was about getting off public aid.

In a ceremony marked with positive messages and esteem-building, 55 women graduated from the Vocational Skills Training program at the College of Lake County.

"This program is about opportunity, hope, encouragement and a better future for all," said Russell Peterson, acting vice-president for educational affairs at the College of Lake County. "It takes courage to take the first step on the road to change."

The program, now in its third year, is a joint effort of the College of Lake County Public Assistance Program, Illinois Department of Public Aid Project Chance Program and the Lake County Health Department Vocational Graduate Carla Higgins, who attended the Grayslake campus, thanked the program and its business supporters for boosting her self-confidence and thanked her classmates for forging friendships that will bring each of them through the tough times ahead. Between the presentation of job readiness certificates and diplomas, Higgins was seen quieting her toddler daughter.

"I want to thank the people who are fighting to keep programs like this in existence," said Karen Bivens, a graduate who attended the Lakeshore Campus. "Every time someone joins a program like this, you make it possible for them to find work and make a better life."

State Rep. Lauren Beth Gash (D-60th) delivered the commencement address sprinkled with anecdotes from her own life.

"I went into labor during one of my final exams in law school and I had another interrupted by a call that my child had the chicken pox," Gash told the graduates. "There are challenges ahead. It is not easy balancing a family and a job. There are jobs you won't like, people you won't like working for... but in the middle of difficulties often lies the best opportunity. ## Pay raises: Politics or fiscal responsibility?

Will board hold line on dept. head raises?

RHONDA HETRICK BURKE

Will the philosophy of holding the line on pay raises hold? That is the question three elected county officials will likely be pondering as the county board votes on pay raises for department heads during a regular board meeting, June 11.

The board will consider raises of 2.5 percent to the base for county department heads. Additionally, county employees may receive up to 4-percent increase annually for merit bringing potential raise increases to a total of 6.5 percent. The raises could cost the county up to $7.5 million, according to finance committee members.

The board by an 11-10 vote, opted not to reconsider higher pay raises for the positions of coroner, recorder of deeds and circuit court clerk during a special roll call meeting, Monday. The raises would have cost $20,000 per year.

The finance committee of the county board, chaired by Bob Buhai (D-Highland Park), had worked out a compromise solution during a May 31 committee meeting, which would have given the three elected officials raises of 3.9 percent per year for the next four years. The move would have made their pay equitable to that of the county clerk, county treasurer and regional superintendent of schools. The board voted on pay rates for those three positions in 1994.

During the board's May 28 meeting, it voted to hold the positions of coroner, circuit court clerk and recorder of deeds to 3 percent increases per year. Coroner Barbara Richardson and Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt were both upset by the move, saying it causes an unnecessary barrier between the six elected officials. Pay rates are set by law for the 4-year terms prior to the election.

June 3 was the last day the board could vote to change the pay rates.

"Over a four-year period, three elected officials will earn more than three others based purely on the fact that we drew the short See PAY RAISES page B3

Charity effort builds luxury home as payback

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

Five organizations will reap the benefits of a father's desire to "pay back" Children's Memorial Hospital for the nurturing care of his son more than 20 years ago.

Physicians at Children's Memorial treated Spencer Perlman and repaired a cleft palate and lip. Mark Perlman took note of the wonderful job they did and the wonderful care his son received.

"I began thinking about a way to repay charities that do good things for kids," he said. "About two years ago I came up with this idea."

Perlman, 47, is a resident of Buffalo Grove and president of Empeco Inc., a custom building firm. Working through the Home Builders Association of Lake County newsletter, he began a campaign to solicit donations of goods and services to build a luxury home and donate the proceeds from the sale to five charities. Children's Memorial Hospital was of course one of them, he said. A friend of his has a son with diabetes and is active in the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation. One-third of the proceeds will go to each of these, with the remaining funds divided among three Lake County charities: the Riverside Foundation, Omni Youth Services, and Youth and Family Counseling.

"I contacted all the suppliers and contractors I use, and it just kind of snowballed," said Perlman. "Our goal is to raise over $100,000."

Much of the project cost is being donated outright, he said. A competition for the architecture brought in the firm of Styczynski, Walker & Associates of Willowbrook. Keystone Plumbing has donated the plumbing. Other contributions include the kitchen cabinets, countertops, tile, security system, a central vacuum system, the electrical panels and a dishwasher.

County United Way elects board of directors

United Way of Lake County's Board of Directors elected three new members at the organization's annual business meeting.

Those elected to serve a two-year term include Gary Aubry, vice president of human resources for Komatsu America International Co.; Pat Perrin, community volunteer, and Fredrick Schick, executive vice president of Trustmark Insurance Co. and president of Starmark.

The board also elected four individuals to serve a second term. They include: Cranston O. Byrd, deputy director of the Lake County Dept. of Planning, Zoning and Environmental Quality; State Senator William Peterson; Rev. Kenneth Press, Community Protestant Church, UCC; and David J. Thompson. Thompson was re-elected as Chairman of the Board.

Three retiring board members were recognized for their commitment to the organization. Those honored included Leonard P. Judy, president of L.P. Judy and Associates; Donald M. Peterson, president of Trustmark Insurance Co.; and Sybil Yastrow, Ph.D.

In addition to the election of members, Richard H. Morehead was presented with the Chairman of the Board Award, given annually to a United Way of Lake County volunteer who has displayed exceptional volunteer involvement with organization.

CLC board approves president's contract

The CLC board of trustees extended a three-year contract offer to newly appointed President Gretchen J. Naff, Ed.D.

Naff was appointed CLC president on May 7 after serving nine months as interim president. She previously served as the college's vice president for educational affairs from 1990 until her appointment as interim president.

Under the contract, Naff will receive a 1996-97 salary of $120,000, purchase of service credit in the State Universities Retirement System and other benefits.

"Dr. Naff knows the college and community inside out," said Board Vice Chairman Richard Anderson. "She'll be able to 'hit the ground running' as she begins her presidency. We're very pleased to offer her this contract."

The board also approved a 4 percent increase in salaries for Fiscal Year 1997 for classified, specialist, professional and administrative staff and adjustments in flexible compensation for medical insurance and other benefits.

"This is a competitive compensation package that recognizes the contributions of employees to the college," said Peter Krupczak, vice president for administrative affairs.

Salaries for two vice presidents were also increased by 4 percent and are as follows: $97,240 for Peter Krupczak, vice-president for administrative affairs, and $93,340 for Charles Schulze, vice-president of college advancement. The vice president for educational affairs position is currently vacant.

In other news, the board installed Connie Lynn of Lake Zurich as the 1996-97 student trustee. She will replace outgoing student trustee David Short, whom the board recognized with a resolution. A student with a 3.7 grade point average, Lynn is pursuing an associate degree in psychology. She serves as vice-president of Phi Theta Kappa honor society at CLC.

The board also recognized James Halford, Antioch, a 1978 CLC graduate, as the college's nominee for the Illinois Community College Trustees Association (ICCTA) 1996 Distinguished Alumnus Award recognizing Illinois community college alumni who have graduated prior to 1991. Currently a psychology teacher and head track/cross-country coach at Carmel High School, Halford was an honors student at CLC and a member of the college's cross-country team. After graduating from CLC with an associate in arts degree, Halford attended Western Illinois University where he earned a bachelor's degree in education. He was named to "Who's Who Among Teachers" in 1992 and 1995. Halford and nominees from other community colleges will be honored at a banquet at ICCTA's convention on June 14 in Springfield.

In personnel, the board appointed Dan Petrosko (Lindenhurst) as instructor of computer information systems.

Route 41 area slated for funds

GURNEE—A stretch of Route 41 which has been the scene for several fatal accidents will be receiving state funds for improvements.

The proposed scope of the work is a concrete barrier similar to one to the north. The area selected for the Proposed Highway Improvement Program is Hanssen Road to Stearns School Road. "It prevents anyone from crossing over into the other lane," Ed Wilson, area programmer with Illinois Department of Transportation, said.

Engineering issues such as access points have yet to be worked out. Plans for the $2.2 million project are that it is to begin construction this spring. In addition to the concrete barrier wall, widening and paving both the side and outside shoulders and resurfacing is expected.

Gurnee Fire Chief Tim McGrath praised efforts of Mayor Richard Welton and State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) in obtaining the funding. "The mayor went out on this one. We are excited to get this portion funded. It is a start," McGrath said.

There have been 11 fatalities along Route 41 north of Route 21 in the past three years. Two Warren Township High School students were killed Thanksgiving weekend, 1995. —by STEVE PETERSON

Resignation stuns village

MUNDELEIN—With less than a year left to serve in his second term, Trustee Jeffry Hayes announced his resignation from the village board effective at the end of Monday night's meeting. Wishing to devote more time and energy to his family and his business, the Mundelein attorney said he had accomplished what he set out to do as a board member and it was time to leave. After raising three children, Hobbs and his wife, Kelly became foster parents to three infant boys whom they later adopted. Hobbs credits his wife with 90 percent of the award, noting, "She's the one who gets up in the middle of the night."

Hobbs is involved in recruiting more foster parents for the great need in Lake County and working with the Northern Region Illinois Foster Parent Association on the implementation of a "bill of rights" for foster parents. —by SUZIE REED

Vintage Vettes featured at fair

WAUCONDA—It is time for the Wauconda Township Historical Society Annual Arts and Craft Fair under the Oaks.

The fair has been held near the beginning of the society's season the past 12 years in order to raise money to support its function in the community.

"It is our biggest fund raiser we have to support the Cook Home," said Judy Eschenbauch, president of the historical society.

This year's fair, scheduled from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. June 9 at the Historic Andrew C. Cook House and Museum, 711 N. Main St., will be pretty much the same as in year's past, except for the addition of the Lake County Vette Set, a group that will have Corvettes from different production years on display.

A wide variety of items will be available from approximately 30 vendors, a number from Wauconda but others from Chicago and Wisconsin.

Exhibits will include woodcarvers, jewelry makers, floral designers, hair wrappers, Southwest vendors and a man from Vernon Hills who makes salsa, Eschenbauch said. —by SPENCER SCHEIN

Prayer to run for board

LAKE VILLA—Trustee Joyce Frayer will run an independent campaign against District 3 County Board Representative Suzi Schmidt in the November general election.

Frayer says she will represent all of District 3 and represent what each municipality and unincorporated resident wants. Schmidt, seeking her third term, said she represents the people first and still has a good working relationship with municipal leaders.

The district covers most of Lake Villa Township including the Lake Villa, Lindenhurst and Round Lake Heights and unincorporated areas. Frayer will run under the District Party. —by ALEC JUNG

School leaders storm Edgar

LINCOLNSHIRE—School district leaders stormed Governor Jim Edgar's office with details of how a bill awaiting his signature would adversely effect Lincolnshire-Prairie View Dist. 103, Rondout Dist. 72 and Libertyville and Stevenson high school districts 128 and 125. A special amendment attached to a larger bill allows Lake Forest School District 67 to annex the tax-rich residential portion of the Conway Farms development into its district.

Opposing superintendents pointed out to representatives from the Edgar's office that three separate court decisions, including one by the state supreme court, disallowed the annexation. The courts ruled in favor in maintaining the current school district boundaries in Conway Farms which includes portions of elementary districts 103 and 72 and high school districts 128 and 125. The special legislation (SB 1780) sponsored by State Sen. David Barkhausen (R-Lake Forest) was needed to circumvent the court rulings.

Dist. 103 Superintendent Scott Guzlec said three of the superintendents presented their case of how the amendment would impact their districts. "We feel it certainly was beneficial in terms of highlighting some of our concerns," Guzlec said of the meeting in the governor's office. Governor Edgar has not yet signed or vetoed the bill.

Correction

In a related matter, Lakeland Newspapers incorrectly reported last week State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion) sponsored the special amendment now before the governor. In fact, Geo-Karis voted against SB 1780. "I did not sponsor SB 1780, and I did not vote for conference report with the Lake Forest City/School boundaries," Geo-Karis said. Lakeland Newspapers regrets the error. —by KEVIN HANRAHAN

At the crack of dawn June 22, firefighters from Antioch, Lake Villa, Grayslake and Round Lake will be assisting the Fox Lake Fire Department, along with Newport and Spring Grove. The more than 15-acre site is slated to have 86 townhomes built on it by Four Oaks Developers. To be burnt down will be a lodge, a bath house and a dining hall. This weekend, two smaller buildings will be burnt down by the Fox Lake Fire Department.

Pay Raises

straw and came up for election in 1996—a big presidential election year and a year that 16 county board members would be up for election," Coroner Barbara Richardson told the board. "In terms of consequence, I'm afraid of what it is going to do to us as far as separation and division." Richardson also felt strongly the board made a commitment two years ago to pay all six officials the same rate.

"I wanted to hear additional discussion on the matter, today," said Buhai. "The finance committee worked hard on Friday to address the inequities between the elected officials and I'm disappointed the majority of the board did not feel it should be discussed further."

Other members of the board disagreed. "I don't feel I have anything to apologize for," said Schmidt (R-Lake Villa). "I represent the public and many of the constituents I've been talking to are not getting a raise this year. We approved a 3 percent raise per year for the next four years—that is more than 12 percent in four years."

Other board members pointed out they did not feel, this was an election year decision.

"In 1994, three of us who were not up for election, voted against the pay raises for the clerk, treasurer and superintendent of schools," Martha Marks said. "We just felt the salaries were too high." The three descendents were:

'As a politician, when your word is no good, you are no good.'

—Bob Neal,
County Board Rep. Dist. 2

Marks, David Stolman (R-Buffalo Grove) and Carol Spielman (D-Highland Park).

Stolman said while he was happy with the outcome of the vote, he did vote for the board to discuss the matter further.

"My focus was to get across the concept of a zero percent increase across the board," said Stolman. "But, I also feel that the inequity between the six officials should have been addressed. They were punished in a sense," Stolman favored zero increases for the officials in 1994 and in 1996.

Bob Neal (R-Wadsworth) circulated the petition for the special roll call vote. He and others felt the salaries should be more equitable. He said the issue was not about pay raises it was about the commitment made by the board two years ago to ensure a pay discrepancy would not exist.

"I think the board made a terrible mistake," Neal said. "They acted like hypocrites, frankly. They didn't keep the commitment they made four years ago. As a politician, when your word is no good, you are no good."

As the GOP candidate for recorder of deeds, Neal said he was prepared to make a motion to freeze the recorder's salary to ensure, he had no conflict of interest in his decision.

Neal says the 3.9 percent raises for the coroner, circuit court clerk and recorder of deeds, would have cost the county $20,000 over the next four years. He felt that was a minimal amount.

'Mobiles' evade taxes

Editor:

A debate goes on about the extent to which the older generation should be advantaged at the expense of the younger one. While the debate goes on, action is taken in the Saddlebrook development to shift the property tax burden away from the older generation to the mostly younger generation.

For advertised "ranch homes" in Saddlebrook, available to persons 55 and older without children, the tax on homes selling for as much as $200,000, there is only a "mobile home" tax of $200. For a home of such a price in Cambridge Homes, for example, the tax would be $4,000 to $5,000.

What is not paid in taxes by the "mobile home" is paid by the owners of conventional homes, within the limits of the tax cap and ceiling tax rates. No reduction in revenue requests of taxing bodies is made because lesser taxes are paid in Saddlebrook.

Saddlebrook is within the municipal boundaries of Round Lake Park, but within Fremont Township that includes about half of Mundelein and Fremont and Mundelein High School districts.

All this trouble comes about because the "manufactured homes" in Saddlebrook are by law classified as "mobile homes." They get so classified because an axle is put under front and rear before sidewalls are put around the base.

Neither Fremont Township

nor Round Lake Park have taken the initiative to get the law changed. Most people don't know about the problem and your paper has done nothing to inform them even though three out of five papers with local circulation have done so.

Flood seeds ripening

Editor:

It is raining again as I write this, and I am concerned for the families in North Libertyville Estates, along Delany Road and everywhere in the county who were flooded this week. It is becoming an all too familiar picture.

How many homes have to be flooded; how much traffic has to be blocked on closed roads; how many hours must we spend sandbagging before our county and municipal governments acknowledge that there is a problem?

We are clearly reaping what we've sown. Lake County's overwhelming drive to develop every square inch of land—even land clearly within the flood plains—is taking its toll.

Unfortunately, the people hurt are not the developers who sought to make a profit from cheap land, nor the municipalities who succumbed to the threats of lawsuits and the lure of more revenue, but the people who in good faith bought homes in Lake County. Even houses originally outside of the flood plain are now in harm's way as the development upstream and upland of them increases the runoff and expands the flood plain boundaries. Levies and berms and channelization are not the answer—they may save the neighborhood in which they are located, but they just send the flood water rushing into homes downstream.

The only answer is responsible, disciplined development policies on the part of our municipalities. And the only way we'll get that is by constant vigilance and electing responsible officials who will exercise common sense.

'Leadership' deserved

Editor:

A new utility tax, higher property taxes, flooded basements, and traffic jams are all part of the cost of growth.

Thanks to the political leadership of Norm Geary, our community retained 1,400 acres of open space with the purchase of the Picket Fence Farm and the Brae Loch Golf Club. Our village officials would have added a minimum of 4,000 more homes and that would have given us still higher taxes, more congestion, more flooding, and a further erosion of the quality of our environment.

We are getting the type of government we deserve!

Build Noah's Ark

Editor:

Noah, build the Ark! Sounds like a good idea for all Lake County residents who have fallen victim to the downpours over the last several weeks.

In Wauconda, I observed many angered residents yelling at Public Works Dept. employees who were desperately trying to alleviate flooding problems in Wauconda. The crew finally resorted to putting a large pump in Bangs Lake to help lower the lake level. A great idea, but just a Band-Aid solution to an even bigger problem.

I think we all owe the Public Works Dept. a big thank you, and instead of yelling at them, our anger should be directed at the See READERS page B5

Intersection project botched by county

A county project incorporating highway safety, stormwater management and environmental protection stands as a monument to officialdom's ignorance, ineptness and waste.

With the Lake County Div. of Transportation as the lead agency for planning and implementation, more than $2 million was spent to modernize a dangerous intersection in Grant Township, reputedly the second most dangerous in the county, while incorporating the most modern techniques available for controlling stormwater runoff into a nearby recreational body of water, Long Lake.

The almost totally residential lake of 640 acres has a history of abuse associated with urbanization. More than a quarter of a century ago, a group of Long Lake residents, incensed with increasingly polluting effluent from the nearby Round Lake area sewage treatment works gave impetus to formation of the Lake County Health Dept.

When algae from nutrient-rich waters overtook the lake, residents utilized self-help measures to develop innovative chemical treatment and deep water recirculation to purify the water. Householders quickly jumped on the bandwagon to organize a tax-supported local sanitary district. Long Lake leaders gave strong support to formation of the Lake County Public Works Dept. to manage delivery of sewer and water service to unincorporated areas.

Long Lake residents know plenty about dealing with uncontrolled growth and development. Now they are fighting to protect their lake from the effects of overbuilding in the county's largest watershed, the 28,000 acre Squaw Creek system that stretches southward including areas of Wauconda, Mundelein and is tied inextricably to the pristine Mud Lake wetlands of approximately 500 acres.

That county government botched stormwater management and protection to the Long Lake environment became evident with the mid-May spring rains. Two gaping retention ponds created by the clear-cutting of several acres of native hardwoods detained no stormwater. Runoff followed natural courses through a wooded area, turning a pond linked by a culvert to Long Lake to a silt-laden mustard yellow.

Evidence is mounting that Long Lake flooding problems are due as much to runoff created by improper building and development in the Squaw Creek watershed as to rainfall. The same can be said for residential areas along the DesPlaines River like North Libertyville Estates, Lake Zurich and other flood-prone areas of the county.

A moisture-sparse winter and rainfall only slightly above normal should have been absorbed. But flooding was widespread. Mike Warner, chief engineer with the Stormwater Management Commission, put the county's spring flood damage in proper perspective. "Development converts ground water to surface water. It increases the amount of runoff," Warner explained.

The time has long-since passed that county leaders and their counterparts sitting on municipal councils are allowed to shrug off flooding as "Mother Nature's work." Elected officials simply aren't doing their jobs when it comes to Lake County flooding.

The muffed Long Lake multi-purpose project is a signal example of ineptitude and waste. Martin Buehler, transportation director, was given a salary increase even before the Grant Township showcase project was completed. A County Board representative from the Public Service Committee, charged with oversight of county highway projects, admitted that surveillance of the project was inadequate.

Elections will be held in November and next spring to fill county and village governmental seats. Electors would do well to ask candidates seeking their vote, "If elected, what are you going to do about flooding?"

VIEWPOINT

GOP waits for Dole to roll up sleeves

BILL SCHROEDER

Publisher

As President Bush's popularity ratings began sliding four years ago, Republicans comforted themselves with the thought that "wait until George cuts loose."

The "vision thing" never materialized. For some unfathomable reason, Bush never did "cut loose," preferring to play his campaign for reelection low key. The result was Bill Clinton eeking out victory greased by the ill-begotten Perot third party candidacy.

Now GOP stalwarts are waivering between despair over Clinton's lop-sided lead in opinion polls and the logic that Sen. Bob Dole's hold on electoral votes adds up alone to favored status. With 270 electoral votes needed to win, Dole figures to win 12 states that have voted Republican in the last seven elections providing 73 electoral votes. There are 12 states with 165 electoral votes that have supported the GOP nominee in six of the last seven elections.

National columnist Jeffrey Hart likes Dole's chances on issues that count highest—taxes, crime, national security and welfare. Hart gives Dole a 2-1 lead over Clinton on the character issue. Hart says a handful of major Dole addresses will sharpen differences between him and Clinton.

A few issues like the "gay marriage" question will hit home with sober Americans looking for a change from Clinton's free-wheeling style.

My favorite economist, Dr. Michael K. Evans, professor at the Kellogg School of Business, Northwestern University, boils down a Dole victory to showing how real economic growth can be boosted by one percentage point per year to "wipe out the deficit without making any cuts in Social Security or health-care benefits, and without raising tax rates at all." Call this the "growth thing."

Evans insists Republicans can remain the majority party for years by reducing excessive government spending and reinstate tax incentives for saving and investment which will boost growth, provide better jobs and balance the budget.

If James Carville was a Republican, he'd be admonishing the Dole staff, "It's growth, stupid."

Clinton's slickness and undeniable campaigning ability notwithstanding, all the ingredients are in place for a Dole presidency, a victory that not even the biased liberal media cannot deny.

Bob Dole will have to do more than take off his tie and put on a sport coat. He'll have to roll up his sleeves and "cut loose." Americans will support a presidential candidate who talks sense and delivers his message with conviction.

PARTY LINES

Coroner: Barney costume appropriate for board visit

Party Lines, the Lakeland Newspapers column of political commentary, is compiled from staff reports.

Despite gaining enough signatures on a petition to call a special roll call vote on pay rates for elected officials, the matter was not brought before the County Board Monday, for lack of support.

Richardson

Board members voted 11-10 not to consider the recommendation the finance committee worked out May 31 to give the coroner, circuit court clerk and recorder of deeds a 3.9 percent raise each year for the next four. The three positions will get 3 percent a year.

The issue brought both Circuit Court Clerk Sally Coffelt and Coroner Barbara Richardson to the meeting. Coffelt handed out a prepared statement and Richardson chided the board in an address after the vote. Richardson said she should have brought her Barney costume to the meeting and sang a course of "I love you, you love me, we are all one big happy family." But, she added, "you don't love me."

Even some board members signing the special roll call vote did not vote to bring the matter to discussion. Angelo Kyle (D-Dist. 12) voted against discussing the options while Mary Beattie (R-Dist. 16) was absent.

The raise will put Richardson, Coffelt and current Recorder Frank Nustra $5,455 behind County Clerk Willard Helander, Regional Superintendent of Schools Ed Gonwa and Treasurer "Red" Anderson in 1997. The gap will widen further in coming years.

Road to the White House—Voters looking for a presidential candidate may want to take the advice of a trucker spotted driving down Midlothian Road north to Route 83. Scrawled in the dirt on the back of his rig was "Hoffa '96." Should Jimmy Hoffa surface after disappearing more than 20 years ago, he might fare well against President Bill Clinton and Sen. Bob Dole.

Amazing—County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) expressed "amazement" during an escorted tour of the pristine wetlands and rich natural areas of Grant Township. Newton was a guest of supporters of a building moratorium to allow time for revisions to be made to the Lake County zoning code.

Newton is the latest to join the "How About That" club of county board members who rarely venture west of Rte. 45 in going about their governmental duties. Newton is a member of the Public Service committee that had oversight responsibilities on the controversial Wilson-Rollins Road reconstruction project where stormwater engineering has been found lacking.

Marks got a chuckle out of an editorial in this newspaper referring to "highly motivated Democrats" getting on the ballot through the slating process.

Diaper the ducks—When Island Lake Village Clerk Pat Nebgen explained the state is insisting on a number of regulations for the town beaches, including mandatory rubber pants on toddlers and infants, Trustee Steven Stiller received a chortling response when he made a suggestion. "Well then we should have rubber pants on the ducks and geese there too!" Stiller advised.

Thacker now out as campaign manager. According to campaign staffers, Thacker was offered a strategy position within the organization but opted to take a job as campaign manager for another candidate.

Publish names—State Sen. Dick Klemm (R-McHenry County) says the names of students in Illinois who get scholarships sponsored by their local lawmakers should be made public. Senate Bill 1122, which passed the General Assembly this week, would require each student applying for a General Assembly Scholarship to sign a document waiving rights to confidentiality. The waiver document would include the name of the nominees and the general assembly member making the nomination. Seems, Klemm wants to make sure everyone know who is being selected by legislators.

mayors and village boards who allowed rampant over-development of Wauconda and the surrounding countryside.

As a 30-year resident of Wauconda, I personally witnessed the filling in of a large wetland at the north end of Bangs Lake, owned by the Berger family. I also witnessed a portion of Bangs Lake owned by Mers Restaurant which was filled in to be used as a parking area for the restaurant. I also can't forget when Country Ridge subdivision was built and residents on Brown Street were flooded out of their homes for the first time ever.

The folks who speak out in favor of protecting wetlands are often labeled as extremists, but I believe we should heed their warnings.

As the Wauconda Village Board discusses the Comprehensive Plan, and considers a 15 home addition to the Hubbards Woods subdivision, which already has severe flooding problems in lesser rainstorms, I urge all residents of Wauconda and the surrounding countryside, which is also affected by development in Wauconda, to attend village board meetings and urge the mayor and board to consider the ramifications of their actions.

It's about time for Mayor Eschenbach to stop catering to builders and developers, and instead take care of the residents of Wauconda who elected him.

Wrong representative

Editor:

I was very disappointed in the Capitol's Memorial Day service to find President Clinton placing the wreath on the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

This honor should be reserved for someone who served our country and knows what it means to be a soldier. Instead, we had the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier represented by someone who refused to serve this country, fled to Russia and protested against this country.

If the president had any honor, he would have chosen a true representative for the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, General Powell for instance.

Neal at public trough

Editor:

Republicans, it's time to split! Especially any Lake County Republican who uses the Illinois Tollway, sharing the frustration of having to pay, and pay, and pay for such things as 1) Misuse of funds, 2) Ghost payroll, 3) Building tollways to nowhere, 4) Perpetuating the system, and 5) No Bid state contracts.

A disturbing fact to me is that an appointed tollway commissioner since 1988, who is being paid $19,600 for a few meetings a year, a man who has been a part of all this past Tollway Glory, is now the Republican candidate for another elected office: recorder of deeds in Lake County! More from the trough.

To add insult to injury, he unsuccessfully led the battle from his current seat on the Lake County board to increase the salary of recorder by a total of 25 percent, putting him at almost $100,000 a year. I'm referring to Bob Neal. The Bob Neal that gets paid as a tollway commissioner, a forest preserve commissioner, a county board member, and now wants almost six figures as the recorder.

I think you'll agree with me that it's time to split our ballot on election day in November. Neal's opponent (Mary Ellen Vanderventer) is arguably one of the best election administrators in the history of Lake County, and the only reason she's not there now is because she was fired. For being a Democrat. Bob Neal's style of politics. If you liked what happened in Willard Helander's office this year, you'll love what will happen in the recorder's office next year!

Mary Ellen offers Lake County Republicans an alternative to that "Tollway Mentality and Machine Politics" approach of Bob Neal. I strongly urge you to consider her, and remember one thing: It's a secret ballot. Nobody will know. Do what many intelligent Republicans will be doing in November. Punch for Vanderventer.

Helping underdog

Editor:

All right. I admit it. I am one of those people who makes a straight party punch when voting. But out of curiosity, I attended the campaign kick-off of Mary Ellen Vanderventer for recorder of deeds, even though I am a Republican election judge. Mary Ellen was always very professional as elections administrator, so I wanted to see her in this new role as candidate.

I was not disappointed. Mary Ellen has a message that is clear and important. I ask all the voters of Lake County to pay attention to this race.

In her remarks, Mary Ellen said she is the underdog. She is. But it's a good position to be in because the underdog always works harder. So as a Republican, I intend to vote straight/plus. I'll make my straight party punch, plus a cross-over vote for Mary Ellen. I intend to do my part to help the underdog win.

Sick of Bob Neal

Editor:

In a recent letter, Ms. Fayer forgot one very important piece of information regarding the abuse of the Illinois Tollway Authority. Bob Neal.

That's right. Mr. Neal, a County Board member and a candidate for recorder of deeds, is a director on the Tollway Authority. And he has been at the forefront of this mismanagement for years. He has been part of purchasing furniture at $1,700 per chair! Did you know that he does not have to pay any tolls?

And he accepts health insurance, provided by the Tollway Authority, to the tune of $63,000 per year. Remember voters, we pay for this! And now he wants to be recorder of deeds, collecting that salary, as well as the Tollway salary, County Board salary and Forest Preserve salary. I think not! I, along with Ms. Fayer, am sick of it!

Atlanta.

"The time has come for the Olympic flame to continue towards the Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta. We are all happy that the Olympic Torch Relay is in the City of Waukegan. You can be sure as the relay continues its journey to Chicago, it will carry with it some part of Waukegan," Moreno said.

Since winning the Silver medal in Tae Kwon Do in 1992 in Barcelona, Spain, Moreno has opened his own Tae Kwon Do studio in Gurnee. He described the love of teaching or competing as "50-50."

Youngsters and their parents from all over Lake County came as early as 7 a.m. to secure spots along the railroad tracks. The Coke-A-Cola sponsored relay had its fair share of welcoming signs, flag-waving youth and a Waukegan High School band playing patriotic tunes.

"My brother missed a good time," Darrin Jackson of Third Lake said.

"We have been looking forward to it," Joanne Armour said.

Brian Kenney, age 5, rode on a bus with his mother Brenda from Gurnee Mills.

"You may not see it again," Brenda Kinney said.

A commuter train pulled up on schedule as the crowd leaned forward, hoping to see the "real" train. Some commuters waved.

Benjamin Reynolds, 6, stopped to have his picture snapped by Darcy Varsek of Wildwood. "It's exciting," Varsek said. Reynolds said he will be watching the gymnastics.

Waukegan Mayor Bill Durkin proclaimed the day "Torch Relay Day." The Waukegan stop and further runs with the torch took place on the 39th day of the 84-day journey. Some 77 runners were nominated to actually carry the torch.

"The Greeks held the Olympic games in highest esteem. Stopping wars, spreading peace. It is Greece and Olympia we honor today, acknowledging the greatness of the gift they bring to the world. Standing before this flame, which was rekindled in the modern era, 100 years ago," Durkin said. "Today in Waukegan it is our honor to stand hand in hand with the chain of humanity which has reached out and embraced the spirit of the 1996 Centennial Olympic Games. To hold this flame and pass it on as so many have done before us, to generation to generation, nation to nation, city to city and from one person to another."

The Olympic games, which begin July 19, have special meaning to State Sen. Adeline Geo-Karis (R-Zion). Geo-Karis was born in southern Greece.

"I am so proud of my heritage and that Waukegan has hosted the Olympic Torch Relay," she said. She added she may return to Greece in a couple of years.

Meanwhile, for the hundreds of Justin Matells out there, the torch stop may just be the inspiration they need.

"Something has changed with all of you since you started the program. . . you want it and you're ready. . . now go out and do it," Willis told the graduates.

The 16-week program teaches participants micro-computer and office skills preparing them for such positions as receptionist, secretary and administrative assistance.

To be eligible for the program participants must be receiving Aid to Families of Dependent Children (AFDC) or Supplemental Subsistence Income (SSI).

Adler House presents first folk music, dance fest

At the last two fall "Festival of the Arts" held at the David Adler Cultural Center, the Center's East Garden Terrace has proved to be a delightful spot for listening to music. So this year, the DACC has spun off its "In the Tradition" Folk Music Fest into a separate event to be held June 14 and 15. Concerts will begin at 5 p.m. on both Friday and Saturday, with the music lasting until 10 p.m. and beyond each evening. Much of the music to be featured is dance music, and the new brick terrace offers an inviting dance floor right in front of the musicians. Informal workshops for families, musicians of all levels, and beginning dancers are also scheduled for Saturday daytime. All events take place at the Adler House at 1700 N. Milwaukee Ave. in Libertyville's Adler Memorial Park.

Headlining the bill on Friday, June 14, is the Blue Ridge Road Gang, an old-time string band from the North Carolina mountains. Joining them will be The Reeks, a Lake County bar band that plays an eclectic mixture of straight-forward traditional Irish music with sounds and tunes from pop sources as distinctive as Bob Dylan and Bob Marley. The strength of the Chicagoland's folk scene will be on display with the exquisite solo guitar mastery of Shinobu Sato (who is on the DACC's teaching staff), and the silky and sultry vocals of Barbara Silverman interacting with the creative back-up artistry of Keith Bauman on mandolin and dobro. The evening will be capped off with an old-time hoe-down, as the Blue Ridge Road Gang returns to the stage with square dance caller Nancy Mamlin. All dances will be taught, so no prior experience is necessary.

The Saturday night show will feature the Bone Tones, a hot Cajun dance band from Minneapolis, and the American Bluesman, a trio of south side bluesmen that include Jimmie Lee Robinson, who has previously appeared in the DACC's folk concert series as well as in MainStreet Libertyville's Out to Lunch concerts in Cook Park. Also on tap are Adler House favorites, Art Thieme and Jenny Armstrong. The latter will be joined by her teenage daughter, Suzannah Armstrong-Park.

For those who want to learn to dance the Cajun two-step, waltz and jitterbug, a workshop with Adler dance instructor Dorothy Kent and the Bone Tone is scheduled for 4 p.m. on Saturday, June 15. Four additional one-hour workshops will be held starting at noon. Anyone can learn clog dancing (for beginners) with Dorothy Kent; fiddle tunes (for all instruments) with Lynn "Chirps" Smith and Paul Tyler (of the Volo Bogtrotters); homemade rhythms (especially for families) with Barbara Silverman; and singing in harmony with Valerie Mindel and Michael Miller.

Admission to the festival is $12 a day or $20 for a weekend pass. Additional discounts are made to DACC members and seniors: $10 a day or $18 for a weekend pass. Children under 16 will be admitted for half price. Participants can save an additional $2 for tickets purchased by June 7. For credit card ticket purchase or more information, call the Adler Center at 367-0707.

The DACC Folk & Ethnic Music Program is supported in part by a grant from the Illinois Arts Council, a state agency. The costs of this festival will also be covered with some old-fashioned, community-style fund raising activities. The DACC's volunteer Concert Committee is organizing a bake sale to last the weekend and two cakewalks to be held each evening. In addition, a number of local merchants and regional folk music concerns have donated goods for a raffle. First prize in the raffle is an acoustic donated by Washburn International, which has its corporate headquarters in Vernon Hills.

Great America celebrates 20 thrilling years with a taste of the West

ALEC JUNG

Staff Reporter

Six Flags Great America is kicking off its 20th year with an invitation for people to saddle up and mosey on down to the new Southwest Territory.

The newly themed area comes complete with authentic buildings, a sit-down restaurant, five rides, an assortment of shops, and a rootin' tootin' western stunt show. This was the first chance the Six Flags team could create an area completely from scratch.

"This was an opportunity to be more creative," said Park President Jim Wintrade. "We could do it right and without having a major rehab."

Wintrade pointed out theming is clearly evident throughout. He stressed bells were brought in from the mission at San Juan Capistrano, Ca., the streets take you back to the Southwest era, with authentic storefronts and music from a mariachi band.

Wintrade added the park was planning to have this area set aside for expansion when it opened 20 years ago. It was originally envisioned as a Western area.

"We added the Spanish and Mexican aspect to create the Southwest Territory," Wintrade said.

A key element to the area is the "Warner Brothers Western Stunt Show." The show offers gunfights, comedy, pyrotechnics and a flaming train entrance as the audience follows the adventures of three of the worst robbers in history.

"We really went all out and spent a lot on this," said Larry Bouts, chief executive officer said of the stunt show. "It include elements and dialogue for both adults and kids."

Bouts said Six Flags is shooting for a more aggressive approach to capture what he feels are the strong points in this area.

"We have a strong tradition with Warner Brothers and Looney Tunes. We are strong with teens, but we want to appeal to all ages," Bouts said.

Bouts added many people don't want to or can't afford to take long vacations. He said families want to take two- or three-day vacations. He mentioned research indicated about 50 percent of families surveyed are likely to attend one theme park this summer.

The area was designed with convenience in mind, with wide aisles for ample room.

"We want to provide more room, spread out the attractions and thin out the lines," Bouts said.

Also in the area is the Viper, a twisting, turning wooden rollercoaster which recreates the thrill of the older wooden coaster with state-of-the-art technology. The coaster opened last year.

The Great Buffalo Saloon offers the park's first sit-down restaurant with a jail theme. The Saloon features booths with jail bars in the back, and music from a player piano greets customers as they come through the doors.

Other features include the Chubasco, a western version of the traditional tea cups to give everyone that spinning feeling. The Trail Blazer looks like a stage coach but goes up and over much like a Ferris wheel. The original Big Top was moved, and The River Rocket is a swinging boat.

The 275-acre park was originally owned by Marriott. It was sold to Six Flags in 1984. Great America is located on Grand Avenue just east of I-94.

Some of the original rides remain. They include the Fling, Sky Whirl, Whizzer, Hometown Fun Machine, Triple Play and Demon, which was originally called Turn of the Century.

Wintrade added the expansion of this area will continue for the next two to three years.

An Ecological Tour of Cancun, Mexico

by JIM WARNKEN,
PRESIDENT, NORTH STAR TRAVEL, INC.

Many of you are already familiar with the Mexican beach resort town of Cancun, a popular choice of sun-seekers looking for white sand beaches and crystal clear turquoise water. At night Cancun comes to life with discos open until the wee hours of the morning.

Just south of this tropical beach paradise is another world. Instead of sun-tanned tourists, this world is inhabited by ocelots, monkeys, pumas and even jaguars. Instead of the sound of poolside Mariachi bands, the call of over 345 species of birds can be heard.

This is the 1.5 million acre Sian Ka'an (See-n-Khan) Biosphere Nature Reserve. Funjet Vacations, the same people who book fun-in-the-sun-type vacations, has joined with "The Nature Conservancy", the "Amigos de Sian Ka'an" and the Pronatura Peninsula de Yucatan in presenting an eco-tour of the Cancun area including the Sian Ka'an Reserve. The tour will also include a tour of the Tropical forest archaeological zone of Coba and the Isla Contoy Bird Sanctuary as well as an ecological tour of Cancun itself to see what Cancun was like before it became a modern tourist destination.

Your visit to Sian Ka'an Reserve starts with an orientation briefing by a host scientist. Then it's a three-hour open boat trip through the freshwater wetlands including two lagoons connected by a man-made canal built during the ancient Mayan civilization. From there you'll enter an eight-mile long natural canal where you're free to take a refreshing swim, finally ending up at the coast.

During your visit to the Coba archaeological zone you'll see majestic pyramids rising above the tropical forest suggesting this to be one of the largest of the Maya centers. Some 1500 years ago over 55,000 Mayans populated this area, leaving behind numerous stucco-faced causeways, some over thirty feet wide and eight feet high, connecting it with other Maya centers 60 miles away.

Next it's a two-hour boat ride to the Islas Contoy Bird Sanctuary where Brown Pelicans, Double-Crested Cormorants and Roseate Spoonbills breed. There's also a great beach for a short swim before heading back.

On the final day of the tour you'll get a look at some of the remaining natural habitat in Cancun itself. Even among 1.7 million yearly visitors, sea turtles still find a place to nest on these beaches.

Funjet is offering these seven day tours until December 21. Ask your travel agent for details.

Critic's Choice

'Show Boat' comes up a winner

"Show Boat," the Jerome Kern-Oscar Hammerstein II musical that first captivated audiences in 1927, has a long history that includes countless stage revivals and several movie versions.

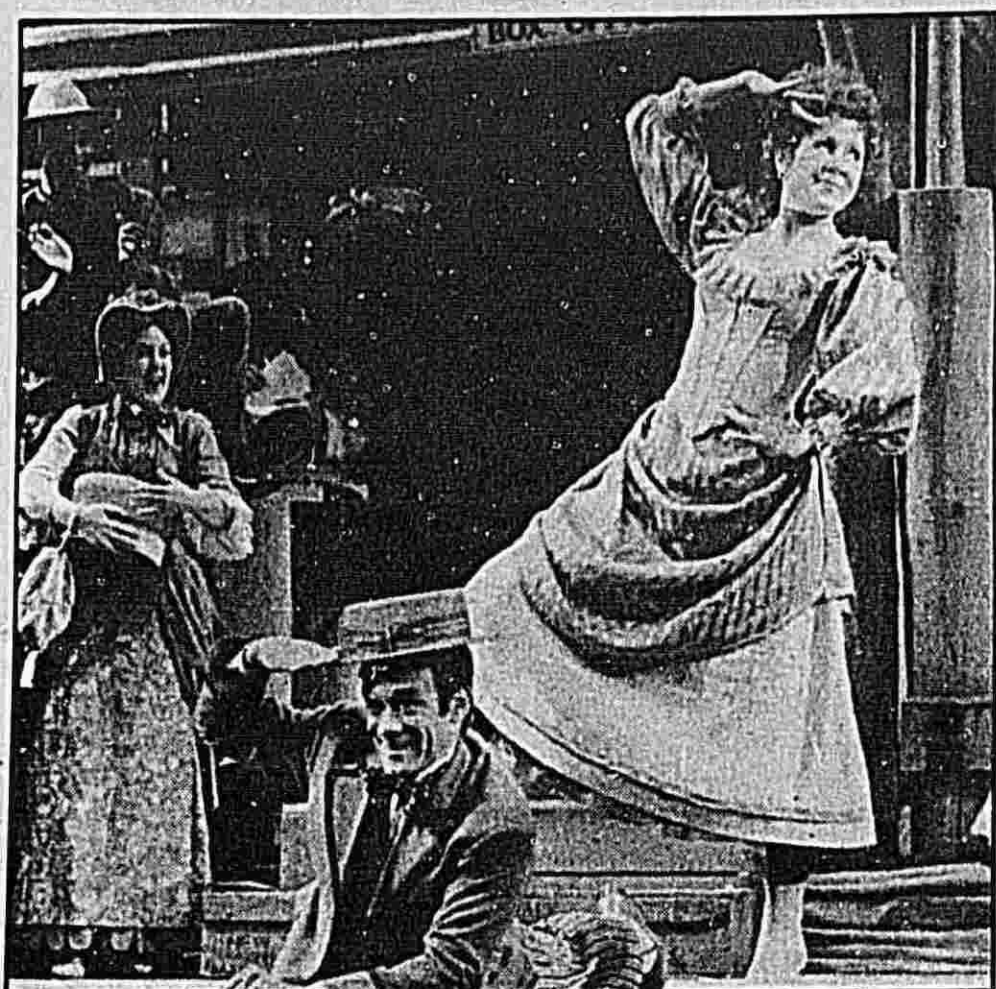

Now this American treasure has rolled into town in what may be the most expansive and memorable interpretation yet.

Directed by Harold Prince, the lavish production at Chicago's Auditorium Theatre features a superlative cast of 71 singers and dancers—homegrown talent plus many from the original Tony Award-winning Broadway show.

Realistic choreography, magnificent costuming, strong orchestral support, unforgettable songs and dancing—"Show Boat" comes up a winner on all counts.

Spanning three generations, the story starts in the post-Reconstruction Deep South of the 1880s and ends at the Palmer House in industrialized Chicago during the Roaring Twenties.

It's a kaleidoscope of the times, chronicling life aboard the Cotton Blossom, a floating theater that cruised the Mississippi, and those who traveled with it. Garrulous Cap'n Andy Hawks keeps things humming aboard the steamer despite his fussbudget spouse, Parthy. Their talented daughter, Magnolia, falls for a slick riverboat gambler, Gaylord Ravenal—and her life is never the same.

A scene from "Showboat."

"Show Boat" also reflects the division between the races that characterized much of the period as well. When Michel Bell, with his deep, soulful voice, presents "Ol' Man River," it's enough to send shudders up and down the spine.

Gay Willis, as Magnolia, shows genuine warmth in "Can't Help Lovin' Dat Man." And Marilyn McCoo, as Julie, shares heartfelt anguish in "Bill."

John McMartin is a pleasure to watch as the easygoing Cap'n Andy. Other strong performances come from Dorothy Loudon as Parthy, Mark Jacoby as Ravenal and Jo Ann Hawkins White as Queenie.

"Show Boat," the main event of the current theater season, originally was set to pull up anchor in early September, but the run was extended through Jan. 5, 1997. Ticket information is available at (312)902-1500.—by

Auto auction offers treasures on wheels

For a dozen years, twice a year, the Volo Antique Museum and Kruse International auctioneers have teamed up for what are considered among the top, major, collector car auctions and expos in the nation.

The June 14, 15 and 16 Father's Day weekend is expected to surpass sales and attendance figures of past Volo/Kruse auction events. Last October's and last June's events had auction sales of around 50 percent and an attendance of about 10,000 each. The hottest range of sales has been in the $5,000 to $25,000 range, according to Bill Grams, Volo auction spokesperson. The highest bids last year were $395,000 and $195,000, he said.

This June's event is again being marketed to both high-dollar buyers and sellers of collector cars, and to the novice or hobbyist. Friday night's auction will feature cars at just $10,000 and under at a special marketing-entry fee of just $150 for reserve and $100 for non-reserve entries. June 15 and 16 will offer a mix of high and low dollar cars in many categories, including antiques, classics, muscles and milestones. The reserve fee on Saturday is $300 and $250 on Sunday. The no-reserve fee is $200 on Saturday and $150 on Sunday. The bidder's fee is only $45.

Hundreds of cars are expected for the three-day event. Those wishing to enter cars for the auction should call Paula Simon at (815)385-8408 at the Volo Antique Auto Museum auction headquarters from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, or Kruse International at 1-800-966-4444. Vehicle check-in begins June 14 at 9 a.m. Both the auction and expo begin at 6 p.m. on June 14, and 10 a.m. on June 15 and 16.

The secret life of a 2-year-old

Hi, I'm Samantha Abear. My Mom left her computer on, and she doesn't know it, but I'm writing her column this week. I won't tell if you won't.

SUNDAY—Today, Daddy took me to the video store to rent a movie. I think the name of it was "Oh No Not Again." Do you know that one? At least I think that's the name because that's what my brother said every time the movie ended and I asked Daddy to rewind it.

MONDAY—I learned a new word today—"stupid." I tried it out many times to see how it sounded. "Stupid Mommy. Stupid Daddy. Stupid cat." Mom didn't like that word for some reason. She told me it was a bad word, and I should apologize for calling her that. So I did. I said, "I'm sorry, stu-

TUESDAY—My teenage brother had a pen on the table downstairs today. He must have wanted me to draw him a picture, I guess. I looked around for a piece of paper, but I couldn't find any. Don't worry, though. I still drew him a picture. He can look at it whenever he wants, because I drew it on the wall.

WEDNESDAY—Today we went to the pet shop to buy food for our kitty. I really like to go there. They have birds and kitties and even my favorite animals—the bitches. You know the ones—they come in all different colors and sizes and they swim in the water. My Daddy likes today. Lunch took awfully long, so I got a little crabby. Right when Mom's food came, I started to cry because my tummy was hurting. It felt better after I wet my diaper. Oh, and I wet Mommy, too. She decided we should leave then, and by the time we got to the car, I started to laugh. Mommy said, "Gee—a minute ago you said your tummy hurt and you were crying. Why aren't you crying now?" So, I told her—"I'm laughing. Mommy all wet." I guess Mommy doesn't know much about jokes.

SATURDAY—When I get bigger, I'm going to have my own purse. But for now, I like to play in Mommy's purse. I like to take out her plastic cards and look at them. Do you know why? Because I saw Mommy stick one of those cards in a machine at the bank once, and money came out. So today, I took out one of her cards and I looked around the house to see if we had one of those machines. Guess what? Mommy's computer is a money machine—it has a hole in it for the card! So I stuck in the card, but no money came out. And I couldn't get the card out either. Mommy says I'm in big trouble. She says I won't be using her computer again until I'm 21.

Movie Pick

Cruise makes it 'Impossible' to leave for popcorn

Star-producer Tom Cruise and director Brian De Palma make us believe in the possibility that an old TV series can make a good movie with "Mission Impossible," despite a lot of previously blown attempts.

It's all here from the self-destructing tape, to the impossible mission assigned by the CIA, to rubber faces that peel off, to glorious bash, boom, bang special effects. Running the original theme song with a lot of electronic updating throughout the picture really put us in the "Impossible" mood.

To go along with that self-destructing tape, "Mission" shocks the audience by having the MI team self destruct in the first few minutes—everyone that is except for Cruise—well somebody has to find out "who dunnit?"

Jon Voight plays the Peter Graves part of Mr. Phelps, Emmanuelle Beart, his sexy (if a bit too young) wife and though we can't find any billing for him, one of the ill-fated team members looked and acted suspiciously like Emilio Estevez.

It's decided that the best way to stop a double agent from stealing a list of CIA agents' names and selling that list to a foreign country is to let him steal the list, follow him and catch him as he's turning the "loot" over to his employer, snagging two nerds with one bone, so to speak.

On the night of the sting, the MI team is killed one by one, all except Cruise, who is framed for being the mole who gave the team up, not only because he is the only survivor, but lots of moola has suddenly been deposited into his parents' bank account.

The individual disposal of each team member employs top notch special effects that get better and better with cars turned into blazing infernos, and one of the most impressive tricks we've seen in many moons, the blowup and water deluge of an aquatical-decorated restaurant.

The excitement mounts as twists and turns whirl while Cruise gets another team of CIA rejects together to solve the whole thing. Especially notable is the scene where Cruise is suspended in front of a top secret CIA computer with a drop of sweat and a rat threatening to do him in.

Cruise is perfect for the role of the brash top agent trying to save himself from death in one impossible situation after another. His persona alone, never mind all the macho maneuverings, is enough to raise his hunk rate.

The story, though not an unflawed one, moves along smartly right down to the usual speeding train episode, although this one is speedier than ever, and the unusual ending. "Mission" carries an "R" rating and we give it a 4.5 out of five stars.—by GLORIA DAVIS

HOROSCOPES

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Someone who keeps changing his or her mind is hard to deal with in business this week. A work concern from last week still isn't resolved, so try to tend to this early on. Use patience in your dealings with loved ones.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Your best approach in business this week is a conservative one. It's a wise move to avoid getting involved in any fly-by-night schemes, particularly where investments are concerned. Check out the fine print.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) This isn't the week for gambling or taking financial risks. Some meet with unexpected expenses in connection with travel. Others find they spend too much on pleasure. This weekend, accent home life.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Your concentration could tend to wander this week since you're dwelling on a personal matter rather than work. Changes this week involved travel. You're likely to opt for time for yourself this weekend over socializing.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're inconsistent this week in your dealings with others and are likely to incur unfavorable reactions as a result. Later in the week, a friend who drops by could overstay his or her welcome. Feel free to speak your mind.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) While you are loath to do so, you have to say no to someone's request for financial assistance. Later in the week, a pressing work matter takes precedence over socializing. Weekend plans are subject to change.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Travelers could meet with unexpected delays, so be patient. Rumors and hearsay make it hard this week to know what to believe. Later on, red tape and inconsequentialities have your hands tied.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A close partner is unpredictable and hard to fathom this week. Examine your own recent behavior for clues to this development. Surprise events later in the week could cause a change in your work schedule.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A friend keeps you waiting early in the week. Some people you'll be dealing with are evasive and hard to pin down in business. A home appliance is at the end of its usefulness. Look to replace it over the weekend.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) You're liable to receive conflicting advice this week, so rely on your own gut feelings instead. It's hard to make plans since others have the maddening propensity to delay making any concrete decisions.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) This isn't the week to play fast and loose with your finances. Also, be careful not to misplace something of importance, such as a driver's license or credit card. A partner is reluctant to follow your lead on a domestic concern.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) You and a loved one find yourself disagreeing this week about a domestic matter. Be leery of overpriced items while out shopping later in the week. At work, ask for help if you need it regarding a certain project.

Italian specialties, outstanding steaks, ribs and fresh fish

Sabatini's has a great champagne brunch

The Sabatini family, owners of the Sabatini Restaurant and Frigate's Lounge on the shores of Long Lake, invite everyone to join in the year-long celebration of the 49th anniversary of the start of their business.

Three generations of the Sabatinis have been in the restaurant business since 1947, Ralph Sabatini says, "You'll always find a Sabatini on the premises. Even the chef, Ralph Rossi, is a cousin hailing from Italy. Although the restaurant is an old and honored one, the menu is new with a variety of Italian specialties mixed with outstanding steaks, ribs and fresh fish.

Saturday, June 8, Sabatini's offers a filet and lobster special. Each person gets a filet and lobster tail, along with a complimentary split of champagne each, plus soup, salad bar and potato for $39 per couple.

Sunday's Champagne Brunch, will include unlimited champagne, fruit juices and home-made pastries, is popular at $8.95 for adults, $7.95 for senior citizens and children are $3.95. Enjoy this scrumptious brunch served overlooking Long Lake between 9:30 a.m. and 2 p.m. Another popular Sunday feature is our pizza-pasta-soup and salad bar for $6.50, kids $3.95.

Seniors will enjoy the senior citizen specials offered Monday through Thursday evenings when people over 55 years of age get a complete dinner with a cocktail for only $6.50. Another Thursday special is the popular Family Buffet featuring many delicious entrees for $5.95.

Sabatini's Restaurant & Frigate Lounge also has banquet facilities that can accommodate up to 200 people. To reserve a date, call (847) 587-3211.

On Saturday nights our dinner orchestra, Uncle Jess and the Stardusters, plays for your dining pleasure from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Enjoy relaxing, a delicious meal and a breathtaking view of Sabatini's Restaurant and Frigate Lounge at 25250 W. Lake Shore Dr., in Ingleside (on Rollins Rd., between Wilson and Fairfield). Sabatini's is open Monday through Friday at 4 p.m., Saturday from noon, and Sunday at 9:30 a.m. Jet ski rentals are now available at the lake-front.

IT'S THE TALK OF THE TOWN

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (847) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Lipservice is a phone-in column presented as a feature of Lakeland Newspapers. Lakeland Newspapers makes no claim to the authenticity of the statements. Lakeland Newspapers does not claim the content or the subject matter as fact, but as the personal opinion of the caller. Lakeland Newspapers reserves the right to edit copy or to refrain from printing a message. Call in at 223-8073 and leave your message 24-hours a day. Although the call is anonymous, please leave your village name.

Bravo

Bravo to the cast of Carousel! Fox Lake should be proud of the talented kids that were in the musical at Grant. It's nice to see kids doing something worthwhile instead of always getting bad press.

Wait and see

All I can say is if ABC doesn't renew Murder One and bring it back next year, they're a bunch of idiots!

Scam's up

I was at a department store in Round Lake Beach recently and was cheated out of $1.01. Fortunately, I checked my receipt before I left the store and my money was refunded. This has happened to me before when I've checked my receipts at home. I don't know if any other consumers are aware of this, but us senior citizens are being scammed.

Throw 'em out

Throw the bums out in Round Lake Heights! Do the taxpayers realize you have a 25 percent increase in your property tax and your present board and mayor are $200,000 in debt? Wake up, guys. Throw the bums out!

Let them move

This is in response to another paper's article on Glenkirk on April 24. The Libertyville Village Board should get their acts together and allow Glenkirk to conduct their business. They're looking out for the best welfare of the clients and not trying to please everyone in society. The zoning board should wake up and realize it and allow them to go on with their move.

Call first

I just finished reading the article in your paper about the Round Lake Pantherettes. I'd like to know how someone can send you the article and you chop it up so bad that you leave out important facts. The Round Lake Pantherettes are not the Round Lake cheerleaders. They're two different groups. Twice now you've had articles referring to them as cheerleaders, and they're not. It would be nice if whoever chops up these articles would take time to call and check the facts before they print something.

Just the facts

Set the record straight, please. This is to the two individuals who reported that Kathy Salvi left the Wauconda Twp. Republicans corned beef and cabbage dinner in tears because she was ignored. Whoever said that obviously did not attend the dinner or was there to make trouble. Kathy Salvi was the only person given the microphone to speak up front to all in attendance. Reason being, she's loved by all. Her husband Al is running for the highest office in Illinois and she deserved the respect. The remark that Congressman Crane was only given a few minutes to speak was also not true. He was not a featured speaker, but was given the opportunity to meet and greet and say whatever he wanted to the crowd. Lastly, the charge that Al Salvi's people were not allowed to put stickers on people in the hall is ludicrous! Al's people were all over putting stickers on everyone they could. The people who called in this report of lies to Lipservice are obviously disgruntled. They talk the talk but can't walk the walk. Shame on you, we know who you are.

Make an effort

This is in response to the Lipservice articles "What's the matter?", "Free for who?" and "Stop accommodating." I agree with these individuals for the most part. As far as Hispanics coming to this country, I agree they should have the right to come to this country as anyone else. My point is, you would be more accepted as a people if you made more of an effort to speak the language and take advantage of our opportunities as well as give things back.

Catch speeders

The village of Lake Zurich in their new newsletter told about all the awards Lake Zurich has gotten. This is great. An award for 80 percent of people using seat belts. How about enforcing the speed limit? In most neighborhoods it's not being enforced. I don't give a darn about the awards. I just want to live in a community run by its laws.

Out of touch

All I can say is what the hell is wrong with these politicians fighting raising the minimum wage? Don't give me the garbage about it affecting businesses. These guys don't care about common people. They're so out of touch. If they want to cut something, how about cutting their salaries and pensions. They're all overpaid.

A pathetic jingle

Jingle from Pringle certainly reached a low spot when it talked about little miss Becca Bowen. I'm a member of St. Peter's Church and I know the Bowens. Becca is a delightful 2-year-old girl. A little bit spirited, but aren't all 2-year-olds? I wish Jingle from Pringle would find nicer things to talk about rather than commenting about one spirited little girl. I'm sure there's more interesting things she can address. If she can't "jingle" in a happy manner, maybe she shouldn't "jingle" at all!

Nothing better

Maybe if we all put our heads together, we can think of a good hobby for Mayor Davis, Dave Kilbane, and the trustees of Round Lake Beach. Now that they've taken care of all the village's problems, they have nothing better to do.

Clean the creek

Whom can we trust? I'm from Wauconda. We're supposed to have a clean-up day and I hope the village cleans up the filthy creek on north Main St. past Hubbard Ct. and also along Osage St. Why doesn't Wauconda admit this creek belongs to them and clean it up?

Growth example

I'm calling from Ingleside. A good example of unplanned growth is Menard's without a traffic light.

No sense

So what's this I hear about Round Lake School District's Kurt Valentine not being able to do his job and they have to hire an assistant to help him out? We can let teachers go, librarians, and everything else, but Kurt Valentine gets an assistant?

Overkill

Now that the Hawthorn Woods has its own salt sprayers, you don't have to look too far to see the environmental and property damage caused by excessive use of salt. Workers weren't trained in how to use the equipment. At least the public works manager See LIPSERVICE page B25 should be instructing them. They've caused vegetation and grass kill from six to eight feet into residents' yards. Maybe next season the trustees who are worried about the environmental damage of Route 53 can start within the village first.

Wasted money

I'm calling because the Dept. of Children and Family Services is squandering tax dollars again. The DCFS of Lake and McHenry County relocated on two occasions since Sept. 1995. These two moves, including renovation of both spaces, cost the taxpayers of Illinois minimally $500,000. DCFS is currently housed in a recently remodeled space in Round Lake Beach that measures 7,000 square feet for 35 employees. The department is now in negotiations for additional office space of 5,000 square feet in McHenry County for approximately 17 of these 35 employees. It's estimated the state will spend at least $250,000 for space that's not needed. These monies could be better spent meeting the department's legislative mandate to insure that children and families of Lake and McHenry counties have access to supportive counseling services. This cannot be provided due to financial constraints. Further, DCFS cannot provide residential placement for youths in need of intensive services, resulting in inappropriate and multiple placement of DCFS wards. Taxpayers need to communicate their concerns and frustrations regarding this department's lack of insight.

A true American

I just finished reading Dr. Dam's clarification letter to the editor in the April 26 issue of Lakeland. What a shame that someone who went to school, worked hard, invested his money, and gives to the system, and never is part of the free rides that everyone is involved in. I congratulate him on his efforts in doing the right thing and helping the Fox Lake Waterway Agency.

Check policies

I'm calling from Antioch and like many others, had home damage by the storm that came through town. I checked my homeowner policy and unfortunately, they will not cover cleaning up and taking down trees that fell in my yard because they did not damage home or structure properties. Find someone that can stand on their head and read every other word backwards to find out if you're covered.

Be wary

Last October, I purchased a product from a door to door salesman out of Decatur, GA. He misrepresented himself and I followed the instructions on the receipt for canceling the transaction. I finally received my refund on March 5 after making 16 calls to the company. Be wary of this company if they return to the Chicago area.

Willing to help?

In answer to "Make a splash," I also was in favor of a Wauconda swimming pool 25 years ago. I helped collect money then to make this dream a reality and am doing all I can today. When this project began, many of the residents, businesses and faculty from the Wauconda schools were contributing their efforts. I began walking door to door in my area asking for help. At that time $5 was all we were asking, some gave more, some gave less. I never met anyone negative to the idea. I believe we can finally see this dream materialize. A Wauconda pool will benefit everyone of all ages every day. Children attending school will have the opportunity to learn to swim and compete with surrounding schools. We have a good start. Are you willing to help?

Let's get along

This is in response to the people that are complaining about folks of Hispanic origin and using the Hispanic language. I wish you would keep in mind that our neighbors to the south belong to the North American continent, thus making them Americans. Can we not be just as agreeable to them as they are to us? Aren't they entitled to the same respect we expect from them? They'll make mistakes, but let's keep things in their proper perspective.

Beauty gone

I'm calling from Antioch out of frustration for the way politicians are raping the town and the land. You're tearing down so much natural beauty in this town. The beauty that was here five years ago is gone. The Metra station is bad enough, but you're rezoning for apartment buildings, new homes, etc. Some people like to see natural beauty, relax, and have a nice place to be. You're turning this into an urbanized area. There's no countryside left anymore.

Give us support

I live in Round Lake and voted for the recent referendum. I just finished reading an article on our schools and how they'll vote for raises for the superintendent, etc. The school board got our support, now how about us getting theirs? If our children have to suffer by losing so much and we have to shell out more money, maybe they should hold off on raises for a year to show their support and get us out of this mess!

Get a life

I went to a recent Wauconda

Board meeting and I think the mayor is doing a great job with Wauconda's future. I think the horse people should move to Round Lake if they don't like what Wauconda's doing. Get a life!

Too much

Live in Lake County? It's good to see the government and other agencies are finally taking a look at the price hike with gasoline. It's about time, something that we use every day, year round, costing over $1.10 a gallon? I'm saving all the receipts of every time I purchase gas over $1.10 and I'm using it for a tax deduction, like it or not. This is too much money to pay.

Slanted views

It's amazing that you continue to denigrate Kim Kirby while the sloppy and shoddy reporting goes on in your newspaper. Perhaps you should send some real journalists to do a story and see what's going on in the Round Lake school district instead of printing the slanderous lies concerning a teacher and leader of the union. You have a slanted, right wing paper and you cater to all the crazies in the county. Wake up and do something right for a change.

Resign again

Wauconda Park District Commissioner Joseph Wundsum has missed 13 out of 24 regular board meetings within his first year of office. He's also missed 100 percent of all special and committee meetings. Ask the Wauconda Park District board commissioners and they'll tell you. What did you elect? His campaign slogan was, "Less taxes in Wauconda," but as finance chairman he has yet to even hold a budget meeting or any proposals to lower our taxes. What we need is less Wundsum in Wauconda. Please resign again, Joe, like you did in 1991. You haven't changed a bit.

Are you happy?

I want to congratulate all the people in the Round Lake School District that had to have their taxes raised to protect the schools. My taxes went up over $1,000. I don't have any children but God forbid I don't pay my fair share. I hope all of you are happy and hope all of you have large tax bills you have to contend with. It's not going to stop, it will go higher and higher. Great job!

Do us a favor

This is to the people in Phase I of the Links and English Meadows that have their lawns already in. When you take your dogs to the park and walk them, clean up after them. The reason we don't walk our dogs in our own yard is because we don't have yards yet. At least we clean up after them. If you don't want to clean up after them, leave them in your own yard and do the rest of us a favor! See LIPSERVICE page B26

GET IT OFF YOUR CHEST (847) 223-8073

Lakeland
Newspapers

Move out

The story about the hot dog boat being damaged in the storm on page three of the May 3 issue of Lakeland is a scam. The boat, since they've owned it, has not been taken out of the water in winter. The ice busted up the bottom of the boat this winter. The motors weren't taken out and were frozen in ice. The boat is named after "Crazy Herb," who is a hippie. That's why it's called "Hippie's Hot Dogs." He claims to be a veteran, but the flag is flying on top of his boat and it was in shreds by springtime. I hope he takes his junk and moves out of town.

Out with union

This is in regard to "Get them out," I'm in agreement. The people they should be getting out of Round Lake Beach is the teacher's union, especially Mr. Kirby. He is a useless individual and not doing his job in training and teaching kids. He's using the kids as a screen and crying that the board of education is the problem. It's not. It's the teacher's union and Mr. Kirby. I suggest the people of Round Lake Beach wake up. These people are there for their own gains and not for the students. They'll tell you themselves they aren't learning anything in school.

For too long the selfish drivers of Lake County have acted as though the right of way belongs to the one with the heaviest foot. Get over it. Accidents in Gurnee are getting worse and worse. The law is against you. You will be cited if you can't figure out that a right turn has right of way over a left turn. If you're in a lane that is going to end, the person you're cutting off has the right of way. Grow up before you kill someone!

Against the law

I'm calling from Antioch. I read the article about the bike cop and think it's a good idea, but why show a picture of the cop riding down the sidewalk in Antioch? It's against village laws. Ask any 10-year-old.

Ripped off

The Grayslake Village Board is ripping off car owners with their new municipal tax on electric bills. I figured out on my one car I'll be paying over $25 per year in place of a single car sticker.

Control growth

I'm from Wauconda and I'd like to say the key to growth in Wauconda is controlled growth and proper management of growth. The comprehensive plan put together by the village is a good one with sound management practices. We need both commercial and residential growth, otherwise the existing homeowners' taxes will continue to go out of sight and only the rich will afford to live here. If Beth Hampel had to pay residential or commercial taxes on the land instead of agricultural taxes, she wouldn't be able to run her business there. As far as the Mayos are concerned, they're vocal only because Beth tells them what to say. They have no interest in what happens as far as development in the village. One hundred people protesting the comprehensive plan doesn't impress me. There are thousands of people who recognize that we need the growth and think the village board is doing a good job of controlling it.

Good job, band!

I'd like to congratulate the Carl Sandburg Middle School's symphonic band on placing third in the state at the Superstate Band Contest in Champaign on Friday, May 3. The kids worked hard, did a terrific job, and we're all proud of them.

Losing revenue

The 20 and 25 mile per hour driving limits all around Wauconda does not apply in the Wauconda High School parking lot. The students drive 30 plus miles per hour and recklessly pull out of the parking lot onto Main St. Hello, police department, there's a lot of revenue we're losing by not catching these culprits!

Down the drain

At 411 Hawthorn Blvd., there's a puddle of water that sits there all the time, year round. I can't understand why the city can't put a drain over there. This has gone on for the past three years. Can't the city do something about this?

Slow down

Well, boo hoo for the poor boaters. They don't like having someone tell them how fast they can go on the Fox River or any where else. So what, don't use your boat! Nobody's going to care. Slow down. You don't have the right to speed at 100 miles per hour.

Don't knock it

I'm calling from downtown Antioch. In March Lakeland did an article about a new pet store in Antioch. The article was rude and derogatory, referring to the "other pet shop" on Main St. The "other pet shop" has been in operation under one owner for 26 years and has met Antioch's needs without fail. If you have to knock someone down to build yourself up, something's wrong.

Buy space

Hey, Grayslake, if you want to stop some of the sniping and potshots about the way you're mismanaging the village, how about buying some space in this paper every week explaining your position? Going to board meetings and having more newsletters ain't enough. By the way, I don't work for the paper.

Volkman's great

I can't believe the way Channel 2 let Harry Volkman go. He's the best weatherman Chicago has. He does it with flair and he's a nice guy, I've met him. I'm never going to watch that channel again.

A bad example

This response is to the woman who is so embarrassed by me stopping her in the middle of Route 12. What nerve you have flipping off my kids and, at your age, denying it when I confront you. My 5 and 8 year old showed me what you did. At least I've taught my kids not to lie. You couldn't just apologize to my young kids, as well my older kids, who saw you. What a bad example you make for the older generation. At least I'd apologize if I was wrong, but I wasn't.

A flop

I'm calling from Antioch and have a great concern about the recent post-prom event. Whoever was in charge of this didn't know what they were doing. My high school students attended the event and were disappointed. It was crowded, no food, and no place to sit except for the floor. In rented tuxedos and prom dresses, that's classy. Then they had to listen to rap music. They charged $40 a couple for this. I think the students deserve half of their money back for this. Any comments from mothers of students who attended this event?

Truth was told

I'd like to know when this stopped being the United States? I thought everyone had their opinion and were able to express it without being attacked? Granted, Marge Schott is not the nicest person to be around, but she's entitled to her opinion. Every time she speaks, even if there's truth in it, everyone jumps on her, like this thing about Hitler. He was good in the beginning and did a lot of good things for Germany and then went nuts. Anybody knows this. What's so bad about saying it?

Take note

I'm a resident of Libertyville and would like to address this to non-residents criticizing Libertyville for trying to maintain traditional single-family neighborhoods within its boundary. I'd like to thank you on behalf of Libertyville residents and the residents in your community you've chosen to represent. I'm sure your neighbors will be gratified that you'd welcome dormitory housing where you live. I hope that any group contemplating such a setup will take note of your location.

Prosecute

I'm calling from Antioch Township. I was sexually abused as a child. The beast had been in prison for similar crimes and when he got out he did the same crimes to me. The incident with the Hindsons is sick. They should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law for each and every crime they committed against their children. Lt. Eckenstahler of the Lake County Sheriff's Office should see to it that they are. To say that they could add more charges but out of disgust they stopped piling up more charges is also a crime. These kids have to live with this forever and they'll never get over it. Their parents should not get away with it because the authorities are disgusted. Protect the victims and prosecute the beasts who victimize.

One of these days

I hope the young people that come through Wildwood during the middle of the night and tip over everything in sight realize that even though they don't get caught by police that what goes around comes around, and one of these days, you'll get yours.

Stay tuned

A new mall is proposed by Mr. Sfirc in Lake Zurich. Trustees Moretti, Demos and Winchester say they oppose it. Stay tuned, Lake Zurich, the project is coming that they won't be able to say no to. Money talks and developers know how to turn up the volume in this village.

Village allowed

As a two-year resident and homeowner in the Sweetwater Mills subdivision of Round Lake Beach, I wonder why my taxes have gone up and the street in front of my house still isn't finished. How can a developer come into the village and tear up the land and then leave with the subdivision still in shambles? How can the village allow this to happen?

Is Vern right?

I'm from Lake Villa and I just got my tax bill in the mail. It went up $500 and then I remembered the school referendum went through. Then I read in the paper that according to the Lake Villa Assessor, that the assessed valuation went from $290 million in 1994 to $408 million in 1995. That's a 41 percent increase that the schools would have gotten automatically. So who's to blame, the schools or the suckers that voted for it? Thanks for lowering my standard of living again so that schools could raise theirs a lot. Maybe people should be listening to Vern Holmes after all.

Good going

TOPS Restaurant in Mundelein does not need a liquor license. I commend the mayor for doing the right thing. I don't think any more licenses should be given in Mundelein. There's enough restaurants here that have licenses.

Poison Control Center offers safety tips

The most commonly occurring household poisons for children aged 6 years old and under are non-aspirin medications, cosmetics, vitamins and cleaning products, according to the Illinois Dept. of Public Health Chicago and Northeast Regional Poison Control Center.

If you have a young child in the house (age 6 or younger), there are some basic prevention steps you can take in order to help prevent accidental poisoning.

"Place locks on all cabinets containing poisonous substances that are in reach of children," said Tony Burda, acting director of the Rush Poison Control Center, Chicago. "If any members of your family are taking prescription medications, the safest place to store the medicines is in a file cabinet with a locking drawer," added Burda.

Deborah Holland, director of Victory Memorial Hospital's Emergency Dept., said, "All households should contain a bottle of Syrup of Ipecac. This non-prescription product is used to cause vomiting when a child (or someone else) has swallowed a poisonous substance."

But, you should never use Ipecac or cause vomiting without first calling a poison control center or a physician for instructions. "Some substances can cause severe damage to the digestive system if they are thrown up," says Holland.

If you think your household is properly secured for all poisons, beware. The mineral iron which is found in many vitamin supplements is one of the most common causes of poisoning in children.

"Many people think because iron is a nutrient that it is not dangerous," said Burda. "However, 30 percent of all poison fatalities are the result of iron overdoses."

Young children often put things in their mouths. So it is important to keep all household cleaners, make-up products, perfumes and detergents in safe places.

"You can also teach children from a young age to identify poisonous products. One way is to place a Mr. Yuk sticker on the bottle or package," said Holland. "But, the sticker alone won't safeguard your child. You still need to take precautions."

Mr. Yuk stickers are available from the Rush Poison Control Center in Chicago or by calling Victory's Community Relations Dept. at 360-4246.

Remember, children will be children. That means parents must take extra responsibility to ensure their safety. Lock dangerous substances where children can't reach them, don't treat medicine like candy, and know where to seek emergency help. Being prepared can make all the difference.

Lake County attractions beckon travelers

SUZIE REED

Staff Reporter

The two newest attractions in Lake County are a jungle and a desert.

With Gurnee Mills attracting 16 million visitors annually and Great America, 3 million per year, Lake County's two largest attractions have something new to offer visitors this summer.

Dining adventure at the Rainforest Café includes the sights, sounds and feelings of a unique climate, and is expected to do a lot for the traffic at Gurnee Mills Mall, according to Gail Svendsen, president and chief executive officer of the Lake County Convention and Visitors' Bureau.

"They have wonderful merchandise that will be really popular with travelers—and [county] residents," she said, describing the myriad of unusual gifts that are offered in the restaurant gift section. An outside entrance offers a convenient access to motorcoach passengers.

For the other climate extreme, fans of amusement parks are expected to flock to the Southwest Territory at Great America, which opened last week to a great deal of fanfare.

See Lakelife feature for more details

The visitors bureau targets an area from 70 to 400 miles outside of Lake County, said Svendsen. Television ads, radio spots, and a variety of printed matter in magazines and special inserts encourage tourism to the area. By dialing 1-800-LAKE-NOW, potential visitors will receive a packet full of tempting activities by first class mail. Activities are listed in the calendar free of charge, she said.

"Lake County truly is a destination," said Svendsen.

"There are things to do for people of all ages and all interests."

Svendsen says each visitors spends approximately $80 per day.

Upcoming activities in the area include the McClassic car show at Gurnee Mills on June 8, a Civil War encampment at the Lake County Museum June 9, and a performance of the Waukegan Symphony Orchestra with the Lipizzan stallions on June 14 at the Cuneo Museum. A few Lake County locations offer events just about every weekend.

"The [Lake County] fairgrounds is one of our biggest secrets. There's something going on 51 weekends a year," said Svendsen. Antique shows, flea markets and arts and crafts shows offer a variety of tempting displays in the exhibition building, located at Rtes. 45 and 120 in Grayslake.

"The same can be said for Lambs Farm," she added, noting the musical events scheduled throughout the summer bring people from all over to the stages. Lambs Farm is just west of I-94 on Rte. 176 in Libertyville.

The ComEd's Power House Museum in Zion also has things going on all the time, Svendsen said. Places like the Wauconda Orchards offer berry picking in the summer and celebrate fall with Applefest. Wednesday and Sunday performances at Tempel Farms rival the riding performances in Austria, said Svendsen, who has just returned from Europe.

"We're expecting a really good summer," she said. "The awareness of Lake County is continually created."

Rainforest Cafe opens with thunderous bang

STEVE PETERSON

Staff Reporter

Was the downpour for effect or just Mother Nature's way of welcoming the Rainforest Cafe to town? Was that thunder and lighting inside the restaurant? Yes, it's part of the charm of the magical adventure.

As far as the more than 1,500 were concerned who attended the preview night of Rainforest Cafe, Gurnee Mills' new attraction more than lived up to its billing.

"A wild place to shop and eat" is the theme for the 19,000 square foot "magical adventure in the five-year-old shopping mall.

"We had a phenomenal management team. We hope to open up a new Rainforest Cafe five times a year," Steve Schussler, president and founder, said.

Schussler has a list of 11 commandments he says has been the guiding light for the New York native. "They are the five senses plus environment, intelligence, education and retaining employees who have a passion - the same passion I have," the 40-year-old said.

Gurnee Mills is hoping to be as successful as the Rainforest Cafe in Mall of America. The Minneapolis facility has taken in $12 million annually and has expanded three times in two and one-half years.

"This will be a great asset to Gurnee and I am excited to see it come," Fire Chief Tim McGrath said.

He had just admired the frequent bursting of fog and mists that permeate through cascading waterfalls; Tracy, an animated tree; huge mushroom canopies; mechanized crocodiles; snakes, butterflies and frogs. At a gift shop, one can buy a $50 stuffed elephant to a $5 frog. A percentage of proceeds from the sales go toward environmental causes. "It rocks. I like the alligator in the front pond and the food was awesome," Nicole McGrath of Gurnee said.

"This is a great addition to Lake County. It is great for all of Lake See RAINFOREST page C2

The Rainforest Cafe in Gurnee Mills opened June 3 to the public. ## Griefnotes

How can I prevent difficulties from grief?

Many who confront grief for the first time are surprised at the intensity of their feelings. Grief is most often associated with the death of a loved one but it can also result from divorce, loss of bodily function, moving or from a child growing up and leaving home. Because grief is poorly understood, those who have not experienced it personally can be poor helpers. By learning about grief ahead of time we can more capably assist friends in their time of need and can more readily understand the intensity of feelings when death affects our families. Take time to read and inquire about grief and learn ways to assist those in need of support.

How To Survive The Job Search
By Nancy Sakol

Q: I have several years of secretarial and word processing experience. I'd like to find a similar position working three days a week but in the late afternoon/evening (4-10pm). From Want Ads and two temp/per agencies I have found only general office work during these hours. This work is not challenging enough and the pay is not the greatest. I know there have to be companies out there with a second shift needing my skills. Any suggestions on how to find those companies? (Signed) Bored in Lake Zurich

A: Dear Bored: I am sure you have your reasons for wishing to work the hours of 4-10pm; however, one of the problems that I am sure you have encountered is that you are looking for the sun and the moon and the stars as well as job fulfillment. Most often, office positions dealing with "general" duties as you have mentioned are 8-5-ish in the a.m. To find evening positions in secretarial as you wish (unless you are with a major corporation who sometimes will have a secretarial pool in the evenings to pick up the slack), is a difficult task as you are really not wishing to work a full shift by the hours that you have established. One thing I haven't picked up on is the question on whether or not you are flexible with the hours; however, here is a suggestion since you appear to be very defined in your wants and needs. Rather than getting frustrated with the type of positions you are finding available and the unworkable hours, have you thought of the possibility of starting your own at-home secretarial service? Word of mouth can be your best advertising in getting your home business off the ground. The investment can be relatively minimal, and the services you could perform could net you a sweet deal if you take your business seriously. If you are to go this direction, it would be a good idea to lay out your plan, and plan you must. Business cards outlining your specialties... technical, statistical, resumes, etc. Of course, if starting your own business from home, one concern for you to consider is that you must be disciplined enough not to get behind in deadlines, due to other things in the home that may distract you. I know people who have had problems with distractions of friends just dropping by and such, which takes them away from their work. In your case, however, if you remain focused enough, for the hours you will schedule to actually work, there should be plenty of time left in the day to enjoy those perks! Take this option into consideration, it may be the best of both worlds for you. In any case, it is certain to help with the boredom. Hope this helps. Good Luck!

—Ask DON GARLTIS—

Below normal coolant temp may diminish performance

Q: Our 1988 Cadillac, with a V-6, 2.8-liter engine, developed a cold weather problem this winter. The automatic transmission shifted down from drive to second gear for a second or two before going back up to third by itself. This happened at highway speeds as well as in city driving on level ground.

At the same time, I noticed that I was not getting as much heat from the heater. I found that the thermostat was in the open position and the temperature gauge showed little rise in temperature even when it should have been normal. After I installed a new thermostat, the transmission stopped the uncalled for shifting and everything was back to normal. I realize that the transmission fluid is sent to the radiator to be cooled.

Is it possible that there is also a need to heat the fluid to an operating temperature in order for the transmission to work properly during cold weather? Or is this a warning that I am about to be faced with transmission problems? The car has been driven 61,000 miles.—Raymond C.

A: Your Cadillac was downshifting because of a loss of power due to below normal coolant temperature. In modern engines, it is very important that the operating temperature be normal. If it isn't, horsepower will drop and, as in your case, cause the transmission to downshift at the slightest provocation. I really can't see any reason to expect transmission problems with such low mileage, even though the car is eight years old.

Q: I have been having trouble with my 1986 GMC Safari van for about the last 25,000 miles. As I am driving, the van will start to shake and vibrate and white smoke will pour out of the exhaust. The engine light comes on and it stalls out after a few miles. The scenario is always different; it doesn't matter if the van has been driven for a short or long trip, though after it sits overnight it seems to be fine. I have had the tank cleaned, thinking it was bad gas. The heads have been checked and countless tests performed at several garages with no one having an answer to my problem. The last time it happened was the same day I had the engine in for a complete tune-up! The van has 118,000 miles. Do you have any ideas or suggestions?—Freda R.

A: It sounds like the engine is drawing an excessive amount of oil into the intake system from time to time. The first thing I would replace is the PCV valve, an inexpensive item that anyone can replace. Since your vehicle has high mileage, I suggest thoroughly examining the rest of the emission. # Oh say, can you be seen while driving?

How often have you had to brake suddenly with another driver right on your tail? Your eyes dart to the rearview mirror, hoping he'll see your brake lights in time.

But what if your brake lights aren't working properly? There's better than a 50/50 chance they're NOT, according to figures from a survey by American Automobile Club of Cleveland, OH. They found 55% of vehicles checked had brake lights that needed some kind of repairs. This was by far the most prevalent mechanical discrepancy found during a Car Care Clinic.

Bob Knop, manager of the Club's Approved Auto Repair Department, which conducts the clinics, says most problems were found with the third brake light, generally because of a burned out bulb.

Our subconscious response to lighting

"We've grown to depend on lighting to signal our intentions," says Jack Oliver, Manager for the G.E. Automotive Lighting Division. "We respond almost subconsciously to fellow motorists' turn signals, brake lights or emergency flashers. It's a form of communication as vital to driving as road signs and center lane marking. When they're missing we're unaware of the danger ahead."

Another common lighting problem, according to Oliver, is found on vehicles with four light systems with separate units for high and low beams. Because the high beam lamps are replaced less often the lens is subjected to years of abuse from pebbles and other road debris. Eventually hair-line cracks develop and moisture works its way inside, corroding the reflector. The unit may appear to be working OK but it is not putting out as much light as it should.

Lights on for Safety

"Some day it may be widespread practice in the U.S., as it is in Canada and Sweden, that headlights be turned on whenever the car is driven. It's a proven safety measure and already is the law in the U.S. on two wheeled vehicles where lights automatically turn on with the ignition switch. Obviously, they are more visible to other drivers," says Oliver.

"An Avis traveler safety study showed vehicles with daytime running lights (DRL) had a better accident record than vehicles not so equipped."

But lights are worthless if they are not working, Oliver emphasizes. All exterior lights should be checked periodically, not only for burned out bulbs and flashers but also for poor illumination of headlamps due to damaged reflectors.

The best way to check your system is to have one person turn on the lights, the emergency flashers and turn signals and apply the brakes while someone else walks around the vehicle to see that everything is working.

It's also a good habit during every gas fill-up to check for dirt (and ice) on all lenses, front and rear. To help maintain cleanliness you can apply a glass treatment such as RAIN X™ to help repel rain, sleet, and snow.

Proper headlight aim is important

At one time or another most of us have been blinded by the glare of oncoming headlights. You flash your high beams to signal the oncoming driver to dim his lights.

He responds by turning on his high beams, indicating it was his low beams that had been blinding you. They were aimed too high.

Are you sure your headlights are not blinding others? Here, from G.E., is the recommended way to check headlight aim.

- 1) Put your car on a 35-40 foot stretch of flat or evenly sloped pavement such as a driveway facing a wall or garage door.
- 2) Shine your low beams on the door from 2 to 3 feet away and outline the bright spots on the door with a pencil or tape.

3) Back the car to about 25 feet from the door. The top of the low beams should shine no higher than the top of the marks on the door or lower than the center of the marked circle. If your vehicle has four headlights the center of the high beam (the inner or lower two lights) should align with the top of the low beam marks. If you have only two headlights, the high beams are automatically aimed when you aim the low beams.

For most accurate aiming take your vehicle to a professional. If, on the other hand, you're a "do-it-yourselfer", follow these instructions from G.E.:

Remove the outer trim for access to the adjustment screws. To raise the beam turn the top adjustment screw clockwise; counter clockwise to lower the beam.

Turn the side adjustment screw clockwise to move the beam to the right and counter-clockwise to move it to the left.

Bring each beam into its final position by turning the adjusting screws clockwise so the headlamp will be held against its tension springs when the operation is completed.

If your lights continue to be out of adjustment, consult a service technician.

Add-on cooler can prolong vehicle

Consumers spend millions of dollars each year repairing transmissions damaged due to neglected maintenance. Not only do we fail to check and replace transmission fluid and filter periodically, we also subject the transmission to excessive heat. Heat is the leading cause of transmission failure, a condition prevalent with today's downsized vehicles which run hotter due to emission controls and smaller engines.

A device designed to protect against overheating is the auxiliary transmission oil cooler. Significant heat problems can develop in any climate when the following occurs:

1. Carrying extra passengers and/or extra luggage
2. Driving in stop-and-go traffic
3. Driving in ice or snow
4. Driving in hot temperatures (especially above 85 degrees)
5. Climbing steep grades
6. Trailer towing

Stress on the transmission can cause your transmission oil temperature to climb from a normal 180 °F to over 300°, enough to break down the transmission fluid. This causes varnishes to form in the transmission, seals to harden and then burn out, plates to slip and burned-out oil to form carbon inside the transmission.

This shortens the life of your transmission, not to mention the strain on other engine parts. Each 20 degree drop in temperature, however, doubles both oil and equipment life.

Keep that fluid cool and you'll prolong the transmission's life.

Transmission coolers are relatively inexpensive in comparison to the costs of transmission repair, rebuilding or replacement. They're also easy to install.

For a free pamphlet on the care of your vehicle's transmission send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. DT, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH control equipment. Any one of its components can cause significant problems. I don't think the tune-up is part of the problem, or even a solution. I am concerned about the shaking and vibrating, but cannot suggest a cause without more information.

Q: My 1990 Honda Accord runs exceptionally well, but I have one problem which came up recently. While traveling on the expressway, I was unable to avoid a piece of truck tire on the roadway, hitting it at a fairly high rate of speed. Since then, I have observed a vibration, or "shimmy," when braking from higher speeds. I get no vibration otherwise while driving the vehicle. I would appreciate your comments please.—Tom A.

A: A whack on the front end such as you described usually calls for a front-end inspection. Some repairs may be in order, as well as a complete realignment. You may have damaged some of the steering components or even CV joints, since your Honda is probably front-wheel drive. I recommend getting it to a front-end specialist or the dealer to take care of any problems that could become more serious with normal wear.

Don't let blown vehicle hose 'blow' your trip

Andy K's family and travel gear were in the car. Everyone was anxious to leave on their extended vacation when Andy had a last minute thought. He ran back into the house to shut off the water supply line to the washer, only to discover a huge bulge in the hose. It almost certainly would have burst while they were away, allowing a prolonged flood of hot water.

Andy's preventive measure reminded him of another rubber hose that might have hampered their vacation time, a radiator hose that was in marginal condition. He had taken the car to the shop for a complete "physical" and discovered several things that might put him and his family at risk.

Whether on the road or driving around home, you want to know your vehicle's cooling system parts are not running on borrowed time. Coolant loss due to a leaking hose or connection can lead to some very expensive trouble including major engine damage. To help prevent such a crisis, the Car Care Council suggests a thorough visual inspection plus a pressure check (which can be done by most service dealers). Then flush the system and install new anti-freeze.

The council offers this cooling system check list:

—Connections
Hose clamps secure?
Drain valve dry?
Freeze plugs secure?

—Drive belt Glazed?
Cracked?
Frayed?
Correct tension?

—Radiator
Internal rust or corrosion?
Seeping?
Mountings secure?
Pressure test OK?

—Pressure cap
Value and spring OK?
Seal condition?
Tight fit?
Pressure test OK?

—Water pump
Bearing condition?
Leakage at gasket or shaft?

—Other
Thermostat functioning normally?
Fan clutch engaging and disengaging properly?
Electric fan (on safety so equipped) function properly?

For more information on the care of your vehicle's cooling system send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. C., One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, Ohio 43452

HEAT: TOUGH ON TRANSMISSIONS

MANY AUTOMATIC TRANSMISSION FAILURES ARE DUE TO SEVERE SERVICE SUCH AS TRAILER TOWING OR HAULING HEAVY LOADS, ESPECIALLY IN HOT WEATHER IN HILLY TERRITORY. OVERHEATING CAUSES DETERIORATION OF TRANSMISSION FLUID; EVENTUALLY SEALS HARDEN AND CLUTCHES BURN OUT.

TRANSMISSION COOLERS INSTALLED HERE

CHECK YOUR TRANSMISSION FLUID. IF IT SMELLS BURNED OR HAS A BROWNISH CAST RATHER THAN ITS NORMAL CHERRY RED COLOR, HAVE IT AND THE FILTER REPLACED; CONSULT YOUR TRANSMISSION SPECIALIST ABOUT HAVING A COOLER INSTALLED.

Don't let car trouble spoil holiday

Don't let your holiday vacation plans be foiled by something you can prevent. That's the advice from the Car Care Council who reports a national survey (sponsored by Marriott Resorts) showing that nearly half of respondents' vacations had been disappointing. Car trouble led the list of "spoilers."

Some mechanical difficulties cannot be anticipated. When a part such as an alternator fails, for example, it's usually without warning, so preventive measures don't apply.

But when the alternator light comes on because a worn drive belt has been overlooked, that situation need not have happened. Most highway breakdowns can be avoided through preventive measures done on one's "home turf."

So before you leave on your vacation trip, find out whether or not your vehicle is up to the task. Use this check list from the Car Care Council to give it a good "physical."

After all, if your vehicle doesn't enjoy the trip, you probably won't either.

NOTE: Detailed information on preventive maintenance checks you can make on your own vehicle is available from the Car Care Council in the form of an illustrated pamphlet entitled "HOW TO FIND YOUR WAY UNDER THE HOOD AND AROUND THE CAR." The Council also offers a 30 minute video on that subject, available for $12.95 including shipping and handling.

For your copy of the pamphlet and information on the video, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Car Care Council, Dept. UH., One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

Car care quiz book makes good gift

If you've been searching around for a different type of gift, consider the new Car Care Quiz Book, a fact-filled publication from the Car Care Council.

It's full of information plus 100 multiple choice quiz questions that explore this topic with a light touch.

Each chapter opens with an informative introduction and an entertaining "AUTO FACT" cartoon.

Quiz questions are fun, but not always easy, i.e.: "Common early warning sign of bad brakes is (a) squealing noise; (b) a spongy feeling brake pedal; (c) the car won't stop."

Following the ten questions in each chapter is a section of detailed answers.

Presenting a complex subject in layman's terms, the 90 pages include dozens of entertaining, non-technical sketches to make this book an enjoyable way to learn more about the care and use of one's vehicle.

To order your copy, send your check or money order for $5.95 to Car Care Council, Department BOOK, One Grande Lake Drive, Port Clinton, OH 43452.

How you handle driving is as important as what you drive

By Bob Bondurant, Ford Motor Company consumer spokesperson and owner of Bob Bondurant School of High Performance Driving

Driver and passenger safety, and extending the life of your vehicle are two important topics for today's drivers. While safety features like air bags and ABS brakes are significant improvements from Ford Motor Company and other automotive manufacturers, there are simple habits you can develop in the way you drive that will make you and your passengers safer, while at the same time increasing the life of your vehicle and its many parts.

The first area I'd like to address is safety. One area of significant importance is how you sit in the driver's seat. Sit upright so you can be attentive to what's going on in front of and around your vehicle. Slouching to the left or right, or reclining the seat too far back hinders your chances of responding quickly in an accident-avoidance situation.

Another reason for sitting tall and straight is to improve the position of your spine. Sitting upright will help keep pressure off the base of your spine, allowing you to remain more attentive, less drowsy and more rested after long trips. A proper sitting position gives you the best possible "feel" for the vehicle.

The placement of your feet is also important. Using the balls of your feet on the appropriate pedals increases your senses for what the vehicle is doing.

side. This simple practice is another way to increase your sense for what the vehicle is doing and where it's going.

When holding the steering wheel, utilize the palms of your hands and position them at three o'clock and nine o'clock, not two and ten as many people teach. Try it the next time you are in the vehicle and see just how much easier a simple lane change occurs. It will take less effort to change lanes in both normal driving and emergency situations.

An additional way to increase safe travel for you and your passengers is to look at the driver ahead of you. Are they in deep conversation with a passenger, using lots of hand motions, dialing their car phone or eating from behind the wheel? In situations like this, I find that it's safer to go around and pass them, rather than be in a situation where I may have to react to their carelessness. When following another vehicle at a safe distance, look through their windshield as well as your own.

A big mistake I see drivers making is that they are only aware of vehicles and objects directly in front of them, rather than many hundreds of feet, even many miles down the road (as in freeway driving). A key in my book is to "look where you want to end up, not where you are."

When it comes to increasing the life span of your vehicle and its parts, try some simple tactics. Gently squeeze your gas pedal when taking off from a stop or increasing speed, and apply gentle but consistent pressure on your brake pedal when slowing down (under normal circumstances).

Racing up to and away from stop lights burns more fuel, while placing undue strain on the engine, transmission and brakes. One obvious result is longer brake-shoe life, but this driving style also saves on tire wear.

Since all your car's weight and energy is transferred to four small patches where the tires meet the road surface, improper driving style will mean a shorter life for your tires. Braking hard over long periods of time will create flat spots and uneven wear on the tire tread. Additionally, how you turn corners affects tire life. Lift off the gas pedal when going into a corner or curve. This will save the outside edges of the tires, in addition to giving you more time to assess where you are and where you're going.

When you are exiting the corner or curve, give the vehicle more gas. Based on simple laws of nature, this will help "pull" the vehicle out of the corner and get you safely on your way.

Pay attention to boat, camper tires

Anyone towing a boat or camper dreads the thought of having to leave it parked on the side of the road because of a flat tire or damaged wheel bearing. The abandoned trailer is highly vulnerable and precious recreational time is lost. So, if trailer towing is in your plans for this summer, heed this reminder from the Car Care Council: high speed driving puts an extra burden on small trailer tires and wheel bearings. Here's why:

A small wheel turns at about triple the speed of a standard wheel. On a 2,000 mile trip it may have traveled the equivalent of 6,000 miles or more at speeds the equivalent of 200 mph!

Also, a common cause of failure on recreational vehicle tires is "dry rot" due to exposure to the elements over a long period of time. They deteriorate from age rather than wear.

Inspect tires carefully, looking for cuts, bruises and signs of deterioration. Replace tires in marginal condition.

Check tire inflation frequently and include the spare. Despite the greater vulnerability of these tires, spare tires on boat and camper trailers are often found to be flat or otherwise useless. In fact, these trailers often have no spare tires at all.

Boaters take note: Boat trailer tires and wheel bearings are especially vulnerable because of repeated immersion on the launching ramp; rubber is easier to cut and wheel bearings are susceptible to rust. Clean and repack them at least once a year with a good grade of marine type of bearing grease.

If boat trailer tires are wearing unevenly, check the trailer frame alignment. U-bolts projecting from the axle can become hung up on protruding rocks or other underwater obstacles, pulling the frame out of alignment.

Keep in mind that you're less likely to hear the thumping of a bad tire or the whining of a dry wheel bearing when you're cruising down the road with windows closed, stereo and air conditioner turned on.

PET OF THE WEEK*"SANDY"

"SANDY" is a neutered male, tan and cream boxer/labrador mix. Just two years old, this sturdy built medium size dog has a short sleek coat, cream front boots and a handsome face. Besides good looks, Sandy has a terrific personality. He's full of spunky playfulness, and has a lively, outgoing people oriented nature. Sandy's breed mix also adds to his appeal. Boxers and Labradors are both known for their loyalty and tenacious bonding to a human caregiver. Both breeds are loving, and affectionate and both boxers and labs are smart and trainable. Sandy arrived at the shelter in October of 1995, and this responsive dog will make a great addition to your family. Cage 7-9. ALL DOGS BENEFIT FROM BASIC HOUSEBREAKING AND OBEDIENCE TRAINING, WHICH HELPS BOND DOG TO OWNER. CRATING IS RECOMMENDED WHEN THE OWNER IS AWAY FOR THE FIRST YEAR IF NEEDED.

PET PARADE

Drawing attention to animals

Nearly six out of 10 American families own pets. And even more people have shared lives with at least one animal. However, too many people either forget or don't know how to give their pets the proper care they deserve.

To help reinforce the importance of taking care of animals have children play a game working with chalk outdoors.

It is not only fun, it allows a child to experience drawing on a large scale using his or her entire body with broad sweeps of chalk.

Here's an idea for you to try.

1. Each player selects a favorite color of chalk.

2. One at a time they take turns drawing a different part of an animal.

3. As they draw the animal part, they have to say why they drew it.

For example, one player might say, "I'm giving our animal the legs of a cheetah because I want him to move fast."

4. Everyone takes a turn adding different parts until the animal is complete. Then, players have to give their Super Animal a name.

Dealing with 'dog' days of summer

Every dog has its day, they say—but few pets enjoy the "dog days" of summer! Warmer weather can be dangerous for dogs if they're not properly cared for.

Fortunately, your pet may stay happy and healthy if you take these six helpful hints:

1. If you leave your dog out in the yard, be sure there's plenty of shade.
2. Keep in mind that school's out—and so are children. For everyone's protection, keep your dog on a leash or within a secure enclosure.

3. Don't leave your dog's food out in hot weather—bacteria grows quickly. If food must be left out, make it the dry kind.

4. Visit the vet for parasite medication. Check daily for ticks and fleas.

5. Try not to leave the dog alone in your car—it heats up quickly.

If you must, park in the shade and leave the windows open so fresh air can circulate.

—Did you know?

• New puppies and kittens should be examined by a veterinarian for worms, say the experts at the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

• Tarantella is a popular folk dance that originated in southern Italy. It gets its name from the city of Taranto, where according to folklore, people danced the tarantella as a cure for the bite of tarantula spider.

• Truffles, a fungus used as a food or flavoring, grows in Europe and the U.S. The ones considered tastiest come from the Perigord region of southwestern France. Trained dogs and pigs are often used to locate them.
